New Weather Satellite Having "Eye" Troubles

Wide-Angle TV Camera Fails To Obtain Pictures

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's Tiros II satellite survived a shaky start Wednesday and turned its television "eyes" toward earth's cloud cover to test a system for forecasting weather from stations in space.

The 280-pound moonlet, launched aboard a three-stage Thor-Delta rocket before dawn, swung into a near-perfect orbit ranging from 406 to 431 miles above earth making one circuit every 98.2 minutes.

But after the first pass, the drum-shaped moonlet with two small television cameras jutting from its bottom sent eight blank pictures of space instead of earth. Scientists said it was tilted at an angle.

On the second trip around, the satellite was back "on the level" and the smaller of its two cameras, carrying a narrow - angle lens, relayed photographs to a station at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

One Camera Blank

However, hours later the wide-angle "vidicon" still had not obtained any pictures. Federal space agency officials said the camera was expected to start functioning at any time.

Tiros I, fired into orbit last last April 1 as the world's first weather satellite, also experienced troubles with one of its TV mechanisms. The problems cleared away after a few days.

Teams of meteorologists of the U. S. Weather Bureau and military weather services were standing by at the Ft. Monmouth and San Nicholas Island, Calif., ground stations to study photographs relayed by Tiros II.

Scientists said these teams would select the most significant photographs for use in preparing maps showing cloud distributions and patterns over various parts of the United States.

Some of this information was to be relayed on a facsimile wire to the Weather Bureau's national meteorological center in Washington, for use in preparing forecasts.

Another Tiros Planned

One more shot is scheduled in the Tiros series, probably early in 1961. After that, the federal space agency will shift toward development of a more advanced series of "Nimbus" meteorological satellites to establish a worldwide 24-hour weather watch starting in 1962.

Tiros II also carried seven infra-red sensors, some designed to help map cloud covers at night when the TV cameras cannot work, and others to study the very source of earth's weather, the so-called "heat balance" of radiation distribution around the globe.

The infra-red devices cannot see, but rather "feel" out cloud layers by the amount of radiation that passes through. Scientists will try to piece together bands of this data for a map. Nimbus will include a more elaborate and more sensitive infra-red system.

U.S. Population Will Hit 182 Million Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. population should reach 182 million at about 5 a.m. EST Thursday, the Census Bureau said Wednesday.

It based the estimate on results of this year's population count and birth, death, and migration rates.

Violence Threatened On Eve Of Contest

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Ugly warnings of possible violence threatened Wednesday to turn a Negro college football game into a Thanksgiving Day racial uprising.

Hand-lettered signs urging "10,000 white people" to show up at Montgomery's Cramton Bowl for the traditional Tuskegee Institute-Alabama State game were found posted around the city Wednesday morning.

They were addressed to "white friends" who "care about your children and their future."

Scrawled on the dummy bomb—eight wooden sticks wrapped in brown paper—was the threat that, "This could be real Thanksgiving Day at Cramton Bowl."

Montgomery's police commissioner, L. B. Sullivan, tried unsuccessfully several weeks ago to get the public athletic board to deny use of Cramton Bowl to the Negro colleges. He explained he was fearful of violence because of racial tensions which, he said, date back to student demonstrations earlier this year.

The downtown parade which, along with the Tuskegee-Alabama State game has been a Thanksgiving Day fixture in Montgomery for more than 35 years, was canceled by the two schools because of the controversy.

Alabama State students staged a sit-in protest at the white lunchroom of the Montgomery courthouse last Feb. 25, and later paraded through the city in antisegregation protests. Nine of the students who participated in the lunchroom demonstration were expelled from school by the state board of education: 20 others were put on probation.

Violence exploded near the State Capitol March 6 when Negroes assembled for an announced prayer meeting. Hundreds of officers broke up the disturbance before it could erupt into a race riot.

Ike Hunts Quail Despite Bursitis

Rain streaming down his glasses, obscured his aim. Half a dozen times he missed coveys of low-flying quail as he tramped through the wet underbrush of a Georgia plantation.

Alcorn Believes Recount Could Give Nixon Illinois

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republican party's top legal adviser said Wednesday he has "no doubt" that a recount of allegedly fraudulent and irregular ballots in Illinois could swing the state's 27 presidential electoral votes from Sen. John F. Kennedy to Richard M. Nixon.

Meade Alcorn, general counsel for the GOP National Committee, said that "on the basis of on-the-ground investigations, I have no doubt that Illinois. . . could wind up in the Nixon column. Some of the votes in other states look equally suspicious."

The Republican official added in a statement that recounts would be demanded in each case where the evidence indicates fraud or irregularity in the Nov. 8 balloting.

"All fair-minded citizens in the states are determined to take every legitimate and reasonable step to see that the final result in each case is recorded correctly," Alcorn said. "there can be no place in America for vote fraud—or even the suspicion of fraud."

A shift of Illinois away from Kennedy still would leave him with 273 electoral votes — four more than the needed 269. But it could result in throwing the election into the House if enough southern electors denied Kennedy their votes.

Even so, the odds still would favor Kennedy. In any such House showdown, each state's congressional delegation would cast one vote, to be decided by a majority of the delegation. The Democrats control 29 state delegations compared to 17 for the GOP. Four are evenly divided.

Angry Congo Soldiers, U.N. Troops Dig In

Menacing Gestures Made Near Villas Of Two U.N. Chiefs

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers made menacing gestures Wednesday at the two top officials of the United Nations in the Congo, digging military emplacements near their homes. U.N. forces were placed on emergency alert.

The Congolese appeared to be still enraged by the death of Lt. Col. Joseph Kokolo, commander of the Leopoldville garrison, and three other Congolese soldiers Monday night in a battle with U.N. Tunisian soldiers.

The four were given a state funeral Wednesday. About 100,000 Congolese watched the procession grimly. Some shouted: "Death to the United Nations!"

Two truckloads of Congolese soldiers appeared in the Kalina residential section and began digging trenches in gardens near the villas of Rajeshwar Dayal and Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, the Indian civilian and military U.N. chiefs in the Congo.

U. N. Soldiers Dig In

As darkness fell, U.N. soldiers from Malaya also were digging gun emplacements and foxholes at strategic points in the Kalina section.

Truckloads of Tunisians, who had fought Congolese in the battle around the Ghana Embassy residence Monday, were sent to Kalina.

The U.N. Command said it feared Congolese soldiers or civilians might attack isolated installations, and ordered all U.N. employes living in outlying districts to move into the headquarters area. There were scattered reports of U.N. officials being molested.

U.N. soldiers and officials were confined to quarters except when on duty. Canadian signalmen billeted in the Kalina residential area were drawn together in one area and warned to be ready to defend themselves.

Malayan Troops On Guard

Malayan soldiers of the U.N. force were put on special guard duty at all U.N.-occupied buildings. Machine guns covered the entrances.

Fearing a mob attack, the United Nations sent no representative of Kokolo's state funeral.

Kokolo was killed by a burst of gun fire in unexplained circumstances at the outset of Monday's battle at the residence of the Ghana charge d'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck. The diplomat was under U.N. protection like most other officials and diplomats here. He had defied an order by the Congolese military chief, Col. Joseph Mobutu, to get out of the country.

Haiti Blames Unrest On Cuba

By United Press International

Haiti accused the Fidel Castro regime Wednesday of trying to foment internal unrest in the tiny Caribbean republic.

It said students who called a general strike against the government did so on orders from Havana, received by radio.

Haiti invoked martial law as a precautionary measure. It was the sixth Caribbean area country to decree emergency rule or mobilize against alleged Cuban-inspired internal unrest in as many weeks.

The tiny republic, but 50 miles across the windward passage from Cuba's eastern tip, identified its strike leaders as Castro sympathizers. It said they were the same students who pledged solidarity with the Cuban revolution at the recent leftist Latin American youth congress in Havana, and who last July 4 picketed and demonstrated against the U.S. Embassy.

Beat Down Revolts

Earlier this month, Guatemala and Nicaragua beat down what they termed Castro-inspired or supported internal revolts. At the same time, Costa Rica took up arms to prevent its soil from being used by Cuban invasion troops bound for Nicaragua. Subsequently, Honduras mobilized to prevent violations of its neutrality by invasion troops bound for or fleeing Guatemala.

U.S. Mission Fails In Bonn, Flies To Paris

PARIS (AP)—Rebuffed in West Germany, the United States turned to international trade and higher defense spending by its allies as sources of relief from the drain on the dollar.

A high-level U.S. mission flew in from Bonn, West Germany, Wednesday and opened a series of talks.

Heading the mission are U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, and Asst. Defense Secretary John N. Irwin II.

In Bonn, Anderson and Dillon were turned down when they asked the West German government to start paying an annual $600 million to help cover the costs of maintaining U.S. forces in West Germany.

The West Germans offered several other measures — including investments in underdeveloped areas, trade concessions and arms purchases in the United States which the U.S. mission considered insufficient.

A U.S. spokesman said Anderson and Dillon would concentrate their attention while here on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the proposed new Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

In line with their effort to save gold and dollars, this probably meant that Anderson and Dillon are investigating the chances of boosting U.S. exports to Europe when the new OECD is established. This would improve the U.S. world trade position and stem some of the outflow of gold.

The other possibility would be to revise the present system of splitting basic defense costs among NATO member-states to shift some of the burden of joint expenditures from the United States to some of the more affluent allies.

It seemed unlikely that Washington would be asking France for financial help in paying for U.S. bases in France but a request for a more liberal French policy on the import of American goods was a possibility.

Railroads Granted Mail Rate Boosts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ICC Wednesday authorized mail rate increases ranging from 8 to 13 per cent for all the nation's railroads.

The increases had been worked out in advance between the railroads and the Post Office Department but needed ICC approval. The commission set Sept. 1, 1960, as the effective date for the mail rate hikes.

Kennedy Brings Daughter Ducks For Her Birthday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy, bearing two ducks as birthday gifts for his daughter, flew to Washington from his Florida vacation spot Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his family.

The ducks, white muscovies with pink bills and black flecks on their heads, were among a variety of gifts Kennedy bought in the Palm Beach, Fla., area for daughter Caroline's third birthday anniversary.

Caroline's birthday isn't until Sunday but it will be observed in advance. Kennedy planned to return to Florida Thursday night after a combined Thanksgiving-birthday dinner at his Washington home with wife Jacqueline, and Caroline.

Building Falls; Three Killed

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Three men were killed and four injured in the collapse of a building, under construction near here Wednesday.

Uprights supporting the roof members of the one-story structure gave way, dropping an estimated 785 tons of pre - stressed concrete beams and stringers to the ground.

One of the victims was identified as Desmond Wichael of Harrisonburg. Identification of the other two was not announced immediately.

Ike, Federal Courts Blasted By La. House

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The Louisiana House of Representatives, foiled at every turn in its efforts to end integration of New Orleans schools, Wednesday accused President Eisenhower and the federal courts of being involved in a Communist conspiracy.

The resolution stopped just short of calling them Communists. But it bogged down in the Senate, where one lawmaker said it was "the worst piece of legislation I have ever seen" and was toned down to more vague terms.

The House, meeting under the watchful eyes of black-clad mothers and children "mourning" for their integrated schools, passed the resolution unanimously.

It said that the "U. S. Supreme Court, supported by the entire federal judicial system and the executive branch of the federal government, is making common cause with the Communist conspiracy to destroy our public school systems and our standards of education."

In the Senate, it was toned down to read "some" of the federal judiciary and "some of the members of the executive branch" before it passed 25-11. The House had already adjourned until Sunday, so it could not vote on the Senate amendments, which leaves the resolution hanging in limbo.

The Legislature passed another resolution ordering $2,535,312 be deposited with the Legislature to pay the teachers of the embattled New Orleans schools. The resolution ordered that when the teachers' checks are mailed to them, the envelope include a note pointing out that the Legislature, not the board was paying them.

Jets Drop Foil, Causing Glow; Thousands Excited

By The Associated Press

A huge, luminous sight in the sky over much of the Midwest and East Wednesday was a shower of tin foil dropped by jet aircraft in a radar reception test. Aviation and weather experts agreed on that.

The traffic control center of Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and the Detroit Weather Bureau said it was this foil falling from more than 25,000 feet through rays of the early morning sun over Southeastern Michigan that excited thousands.

Calls flooded newspaper and police offices after a mysterious glow was sighted between 6:15 and 6:30 a.m.

Some viewers thought it was caused by a rocket, others a satellite or flying saucer. All agreed that it was exceptionally bright.

Observers in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and New York also reported seeing the mysterious sight in the skies.

Keith Muir, assistant chief of Detroit's air control center, said the foil was dropped by jet planes on a test of its radar jamming properties.

American and British planes used tin foil as a jammer of German radar in World War II.

Muir's men had advance notice of the foil drop. He said the Air Force carries on such experiments several times a month "for practice and to check the accuracy of local radar reception."

The glow in the sky—some persons said it had a "flaming tail"—aroused all sorts of conjecture.

The satellite Tiros II, man-made weather moon, was launched from Cape Canaveral at 6:13 a.m. today.

However, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Washington said it was impossible for Tiros II to have been the mysterious object.

Kremlin Says It Directs Red Global Policy

Statement Follows Chinese Criticism Of Khrush Theories

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Wednesday threw a tough challenge at its critics—led by the Red Chinese—in a statement indicating showdown bargaining at a world Communist summit conference.

Moscow sharply informed the Communist world that the principles laid down by the Kremlin under Premier Khrushchev's leadership remain the controlling factors of Communist global policy.

The statement clearly clashed with an official pronouncement of the Chinese Communists, published Monday in the Peiping People's Daily, assailing Khrushchev's theories of peaceful coexistence and his insistence that World War III can and must be avoided. The Chinese retorted that it is an illusion for Communists to think they can get along with "imperialism" — meaning the capitalist West.

Tough Bargaining Indicated

The Soviet statement was published by the Communist party paper Pravda. The paper also published an interview with Khrushchev repeating his refusal to take part in drafting any system of controls over disarmament unless the Western powers first accept the fundamentals of a Soviet demand that disarmament come first and controls over it second.

The appearance of the two articles at the same time seemed an indication of the toughest sort of bargaining in the Communist summit meeting which has been going on in Moscow since Nov. 9, with Red chiefs from all parts of the world in attendance.

On the disarmament question, at least, Khrushchev could demonstrate to the Red Chinese that he could present an uncompromising face to the West.

But Pravda also told the Chinese the principles of peaceful coexistence and prohibition of nuclear weapons as outlined in the Moscow declaration issued after a similar Communist summit in 1957 remain valid as the controlling principles of Communist policy. Recent events, said Pravda, proved the Soviet position to be correct.

Paper Compromise Seen

There was little doubt this Khrushchev position has been under Red Chinese fire. The Peiping People's Daily editorial Monday by implication accused the Soviets of overestimating the strength of the Western camp.

Peiping reminded the Kremlin it had agreed in 1957 that the "imperialists" were "the sworn enemies of the people," and that as long as "imperialism" existed "there will always be soil for aggressive wars." The answer, Peiping insisted, was nothing less than incessant efforts to build up the military strength of the Communist camp.

Although some kind of compromise—on paper — was considered likely as a result of the Communist summit, Pravda's statement on the heels of the Peiping Daily's tough-toned article indicated the debate was far from over.

Soviet Assails Action By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union declared Wednesday the General Assembly's action in seating a delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu would only make the situation in the Congo more difficult.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told a news conference Kasavubu had linked himself with a military dictatorship in the Congo that would now be encouraged to take more "misdeeds and illegal actions."

Kasavubu, apparently unmindful of Soviet criticism, held talks with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and top diplomats apparently aimed at smoothing the way for entry of an Asian-African conciliation commission into the Congo.

Zorin ripped into Kasavubu, Congo army strongman Joseph Mobutu, the United States and Hammarskjold at the conference called to voice Soviet displeasure over Tuesday night's assembly action.

Zorin asserted the United States, with support of Belgium and other NATO powers, had made use of Kasavubu, "who apparently has completely linked his destiny with the regime of Col. Mobutu, based on suppression of democratic freedoms and lawlessness."

A shift of Illinois away from Kennedy still would leave him with 273 electoral votes — four more than the needed 269. But it could result in throwing the election into the House if enough southern electors denied Kennedy their votes.

Even so, the odds still would favor Kennedy. In any such House showdown, each state's congressional delegation would cast one vote, to be decided by a majority of the delegation. The Democrats control 29 state delegations compared to 17 for the GOP. Four are evenly divided.

It based the estimate on results of this year's population count and birth, death, and migration rates.

Haiti Blames Unrest On Cuba

By United Press International

Haiti accused the Fidel Castro regime Wednesday of trying to foment internal unrest in the tiny Caribbean republic.

It said students who called a general strike against the government did so on orders from Havana, received by radio.

Haiti invoked martial law as a precautionary measure. It was the sixth Caribbean area country to decree emergency rule or mobilize against alleged Cuban-inspired internal unrest in as many weeks.

The tiny republic, but 50 miles across the windward passage from Cuba's eastern tip, identified its strike leaders as Castro sympathizers. It said they were the same students who pledged solidarity with the Cuban revolution at the recent leftist Latin American youth congress in Havana, and who last July 4 picketed and demonstrated against the U.S. Embassy.

Beat Down Revolts

Earlier this month, Guatemala and Nicaragua beat down what they termed Castro-inspired or supported internal revolts. At the same time, Costa Rica took up arms to prevent its soil from being used by Cuban invasion troops bound for Nicaragua. Subsequently, Honduras mobilized to prevent violations of its neutrality by invasion troops bound for or fleeing Guatemala.

U.S. Mission Fails In Bonn, Flies To Paris

PARIS (AP)—Rebuffed in West Germany, the United States turned to international trade and higher defense spending by its allies as sources of relief from the drain on the dollar.

A high-level U.S. mission flew in from Bonn, West Germany, Wednesday and opened a series of talks.

In Bonn, Anderson and Dillon were turned down when they asked the West German government to start paying an annual $600 million to help cover the costs of maintaining U.S. forces in West Germany.

The West Germans offered several other measures — including investments in underdeveloped areas, trade concessions and arms purchases in the United States which the U.S. mission considered insufficient.

A U.S. spokesman said Anderson and Dillon would concentrate their attention while here on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the proposed new Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

In line with their effort to save gold and dollars, this probably meant that Anderson and Dillon are investigating the chances of boosting U.S. exports to Europe when the new OECD is established. This would improve the U.S. world trade position and stem some of the outflow of gold.

The other possibility would be to revise the present system of splitting basic defense costs among NATO member-states to shift some of the burden of joint expenditures from the United States to some of the more affluent allies.

It seemed unlikely that Washington would be asking France for financial help in paying for U.S. bases in France but a request for a more liberal French policy on the import of American goods was a possibility.

Railroads Granted Mail Rate Boosts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ICC Wednesday authorized mail rate increases ranging from 8 to 13 per cent for all the nation's railroads.

The increases had been worked out in advance between the railroads and the Post Office Department but needed ICC approval. The commission set Sept. 1, 1960, as the effective date for the mail rate hikes.

Kennedy Brings Daughter Ducks For Her Birthday

The ducks, white muscovies with pink bills and black flecks on their heads, were among a variety of gifts Kennedy bought in the Palm Beach, Fla., area for daughter Caroline's third birthday anniversary.

Caroline's birthday isn't until Sunday but it will be observed in advance. Kennedy planned to return to Florida Thursday night after a combined Thanksgiving-birthday dinner at his Washington home with wife Jacqueline, and Caroline.

Building Falls; Three Killed

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Three men were killed and four injured in the collapse of a building, under construction near here Wednesday.

Uprights supporting the roof members of the one-story structure gave way, dropping an estimated 785 tons of pre - stressed concrete beams and stringers to the ground.

One of the victims was identified as Desmond Wichael of Harrisonburg. Identification of the other two was not announced immediately.

Ike, Federal Courts Blasted By La. House

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—The Louisiana House of Representatives, foiled at every turn in its efforts to end integration of New Orleans schools, Wednesday accused President Eisenhower and the federal courts of being involved in a Communist conspiracy.

The resolution stopped just short of calling them Communists. But it bogged down in the Senate, where one lawmaker said it was "the worst piece of legislation I have ever seen" and was toned down to more vague terms.

The House, meeting under the watchful eyes of black-clad mothers and children "mourning" for their integrated schools, passed the resolution unanimously.

It said that the "U. S. Supreme Court, supported by the entire federal judicial system and the executive branch of the federal government, is making common cause with the Communist conspiracy to destroy our public school systems and our standards of education."

In the Senate, it was toned down to read "some" of the federal judiciary and "some of the members of the executive branch" before it passed 25-11. The House had already adjourned until Sunday, so it could not vote on the Senate amendments, which leaves the resolution hanging in limbo.

The Legislature passed another resolution ordering $2,535,312 be deposited with the Legislature to pay the teachers of the embattled New Orleans schools. The resolution ordered that when the teachers' checks are mailed to them, the envelope include a note pointing out that the Legislature, not the board was paying them.

Jets Drop Foil, Causing Glow; Thousands Excited

By The Associated Press

A huge, luminous sight in the sky over much of the Midwest and East Wednesday was a shower of tin foil dropped by jet aircraft in a radar reception test. Aviation and weather experts agreed on that.

The traffic control center of Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and the Detroit Weather Bureau said it was this foil falling from more than 25,000 feet through rays of the early morning sun over Southeastern Michigan that excited thousands.

Calls flooded newspaper and police offices after a mysterious glow was sighted between 6:15 and 6:30 a.m.

Some viewers thought it was caused by a rocket, others a satellite or flying saucer. All agreed that it was exceptionally bright.

Observers in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and New York also reported seeing the mysterious sight in the skies.

Keith Muir, assistant chief of Detroit's air control center, said the foil was dropped by jet planes on a test of its radar jamming properties.

American and British planes used tin foil as a jammer of German radar in World War II.

Muir's men had advance notice of the foil drop. He said the Air Force carries on such experiments several times a month "for practice and to check the accuracy of local radar reception."

The glow in the sky—some persons said it had a "flaming tail"—aroused all sorts of conjecture.

The satellite Tiros II, man-made weather moon, was launched from Cape Canaveral at 6:13 a.m. today.

However, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Washington said it was impossible for Tiros II to have been the mysterious object.

Soviet Assails Action By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union declared Wednesday the General Assembly's action in seating a delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu would only make the situation in the Congo more difficult.

Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told a news conference Kasavubu had linked himself with a military dictatorship in the Congo that would now be encouraged to take more "misdeeds and illegal actions."

Kasavubu, apparently unmindful of Soviet criticism, held talks with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and top diplomats apparently aimed at smoothing the way for entry of an Asian-African conciliation commission into the Congo.

Zorin ripped into Kasavubu, Congo army strongman Joseph Mobutu, the United States and Hammarskjold at the conference called to voice Soviet displeasure over Tuesday night's assembly action.

Zorin asserted the United States, with support of Belgium and other NATO powers, had made use of Kasavubu, "who apparently has completely linked his destiny with the regime of Col. Mobutu, based on suppression of democratic freedoms and lawlessness."

207 Patients Led To Safety As Flames Sweep State Mental Hospital Building

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A total of 207 mental patients were led calmly from a flaming building at Spring Grove State Hospital Wednesday while fire turned the roof of the sprawling concrete structure into an inferno.

Ronald Campbell, night supervisor who led the evacuation from the Foster Wade Building, credited numerous fire drills with the fact no lives were lost.

Campbell, an employe at the institution for the last seven years, made five trips into the building to see that all rooms and hallways were cleared. On his fifth trip, his effort to reach the extreme west wing's upper floors was blocked by smoke, heat and flames.

"It could have been very serious," he said, "if the fire had broken out at 4 o'clock rather than 7 a.m. when most of the patients were up."

"Those fire drills paid off today," he added.

Mrs. Lana Harvey, a night telephone operator, and special patrolman Thomas Simons noticed the flames shooting above the roof as they were leaving the building after going off duty.

Campbell was in his office on the top floor of the building when he received the fire alert. He began herding patients from the building without explaining the reason.

Most sensed something was wrong, he said, but only a few had to be coaxed from the wards.

Meanwhile, five nurses on duty and other hospital employes joined in directing the evacuation.

Fire Marshal Louis Maisel, of Baltimore County, who had insisted that the hospital conduct regular fire drills, credited the hospital staff with averting a major tragedy.

All available Baltimore County fire apparatus answered the three-alarm call, and units were aided by a 100-foot extension ladder truck summoned from the jbaltimore City Fire Department.

The high ladder was used to reach the roof at the rear of the building, five floors high. The front portion of the building is three floors.

Firemen controlled the blaze at the 623 - acre hospital grounds southwest of Baltimore in about 90 minutes. Several firemen were overcome by smoke briefly while fighting the blaze.

Initial estimates placed the damage to the building at about $100,000. The estimate was made by C. J. Wagner, superintendent of maintenance, who said fire damage to the 45-year-old building was confined largely to the roof.

However, officials said there likely was considerable additional smoke and water damage to upper floors.

NORFOLK Va., (UPI)— The Navy announced Wednesday it will cut its 33,000 overseas dependents by 59 per cent in an effort to help President Eisenhower stem the flow of American gold abroad.

The cut was put into effect in all orders made after Nov. 17.

Santa Clauses Scarce In Baltimore Area

BALTIMORE (AP) — Several Baltimore area shopping centers may be without Santa Clauses during the holiday season, unless more of the happy ho-ho-ho types apply for jobs.

Mrs. Margaret Gotsch, supervisor of seasonal employment for Maryland's Department of Employment Security, says this has been one of the hardest years in her memory to find Santas.

She said she has found about 15, but five job openings still are available. The applicants don't have to be stout, Mrs. Gotsch said, but the stores often turn down prospective Santas if they are too glum.

"They want someone who is pleasant and likes children," she said.

Maryland News In Brief

Hamm, 49, was being held for investigation in a breaking and entering case. Police said the man identified himself as John P. Greene of Herndon when he was first arrested.

Dr. Melvin Davis, deputy medical examiner, said the man died of suffocation. A belt was found looped around his neck and cell bars.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services will be held here Friday for Earl R. Westendorf, 59, a member of the State Board of Electrical Examiners and Supervisors for 12 years during the administrations of Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

Westendorf died at Maryland General Hospital Monday after a long illness. He was a retired electrical contractor and a sales engineer for the Electronics Corporation of America.

SALISBURY (AP) — An ocean-going skipper has volunteered to handle the job of guiding the three-car Wicomico River ferry over its 300-yard course—at least on a temporary basis.

William Lilliston, 26, a Snow Hill captain who handles large fishing vessels in Florida waters in late winter, stepped in when no other licensed skipper could be found to operate the ferry.

The regular operator on the run—in which the ferry boat is held to course by a cable—is hospitalized for an extended period. Meanwhile, the search goes on for a successor to Lilliston when he leaves.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Injuries suffered when he was struck by a car Sunday were fatal Tuesday to Frank Vokroy, 23, of Glen Burnie. Vokroy had stopped on the shoulder of the road to fill his gasoline tank.

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Judge John E. Raine Jr. says the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society must pay taxes on all but a few buildings at the Timonium Fair Grounds.

The decision in Baltimore County Circuit Court rejected arguments by the State Fair organization and reversed a Tax Court order that the grounds were exempt under provisions for charitable or educational institutions.

"There is nothing charitable or educational about a race track," Judge Raine ruled. His decision exempted from taxes, however, certain exhibition and administration buildings on the fair grounds.

The tax bill will amount to $25,000 a year on other property at the fair grounds.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Federal officials said a private hearing would be held for a 40-year-old man apprehended by agents of the Food and Drug Administration. Agents said the man had 58,000 stimulant pills in his possession.

The seizure was made after a complaint was filed in Federal Court alleging the pills were misbranded and being shipped in interstate commerce.

The man was not held in custody pending the informal hearing. Agents said the pills, containing amphetamine and barbiturate, had a retail value of $15,000 if sold to juveniles as so-called "goof balls."

Eichmann's Trial Set For March 6

JERUSALEM (Israeli Sector) (UPI)—Official sources said on Wednesday that the Israeli Ministry of Justice has set March 6 as the date for the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

The date is tentative. But the pace of legal preparations for the trial appeared attuned to such an opening date.

Eichmann is accused of organizing the extermination of millions of Jews in Nazi concentrations camps in World War II. He was seized by Israeli agents in Argentina last May and brought to this country for trial.

A bill to permit a West German lawyer, Dr. Robert Servatius, to act as Eichmann's defense counsel passed its final reading Tuesday night in the Knesset (parliament).

Nine Crownsville Employes Accused

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Charges of contributing to the delinquency of minor girls at the Crownsville State Hospital have been filed in juvenile court against nine employes of the institution, authorities confirmed today.

Dr. Charles Ward, superintendent of the institution for Negroes, said he asked Gov. Tawes for an investigation after alleged violations came to his attention about three weeks ago.

Chances Of Revolt Against Chiang Slim

By ALBERT E. KAFF

The seeds of rebellion which burst open in South Korea and South Viet Nam this year do not seem to exist in Formosa.

The Nationalist Chinese leaders refuse to hold popular central government elections. They rule the island with a one-party administration which tolerates little opposition.

But, to all appearances, the generalissimo's rule stands as firm as the Rock of Gibraltar.

The leader of the first independent political opposition to develop in Formosa was sent to prison last month for 10 years.

There were grumblings but no major outcry against the imprisonment of magazine publisher Lei Chen, 63, one of Chiang's most outspoken critics.

Reinforced police patrols were posted in the street outside the courtroom when Lei was tried but no one showed up except newsmen and photographers.

This correspondent has spent six years in South Korea, South Viet Nam and Formosa — two years in each country.

Chiang's administration holds many advantages which were lacking in the governments of Syngman Rhee in Korea and Ngo Dinh Diem in Viet Nam, including:

—Rhee and Diem became presidents after World War II, largely through U.S. help, while Chiang has ruled since 1926 and rose to power without foreign help.

—Korea and Viet Nam emerged from colonial rule in recent years with few competent public officials able to handle affairs of state. But the top-heavy Nationalist government is crammed with men who have been in public life for decades and who have survived countless crises.

—As a professional soldier who has spent most of his life in uniform, Chiang appears to have full and loyal support from the army at all levels. Rhee, a politician, and Diem, a scholar, knew less about the army or how to control it.

—A network of highly developed communications and transportation lines laces all parts of Formosa, enabling the central government to keep its fingers on developments everywhere; as an island with every approach under military guard, Formosa is relatively safe from infiltration while Korea and Viet Nam are not.

—The mainland Chinese living in Formosa, including the bulk of the military forces, are there for the simple reason that they voluntarily followed Chiang into exile when the Communists won the China mainland in 1949. This exodus of two million Chinese represented a popular vote of confidence in Chiang's leadership which neither Rhee nor Diem ever received.

Despite its one - party rule, Chiang's Kuomintang (Nationalist party) administration is staffed by many competent, well-trained and well-educated officials.

Chiang apparently respects and acts on the advice of his aides in all fields of government including foreign affairs and economic problems in which he himself is not well-trained.

He delegates real authority to his ministers. But Rhee and Diem often were said to make every decision on their own from a $50 government purchase to a drafting of treaties.

Nepotism, rampant in Saigon under Diem, is no real problem in Taipei. Chiang's two sons are generals. The eldest son, a cabinet minister without portfolio, is a strong force in the government with the political and military power to rule. But most observers doubt that he will or even wants to head the government.

Chiang's younger son commands the armored corps. He has shown no political interests.

To the two million mainland Chinese living on Formosa, Chiang stands as the only power in the world which might someday return them home.

Pink-Haired Student Barred From School

DAYTON (UPI) — The high school principal said: "Her hair was so unusual—it was a rather vivid pink, if you can imagine pink being vivid."

The mother said: "It seems like small town people get real shook up about something new. In Paris, this is a common way to wear hair."

But Karan Kaursh, the 14-year-old bobby-soxer who was told to stay out of school until her hair is restored to a more normal color, said: "It's ridiculous."

Karan's hair, fixed in a very high fashion style and dyed a color described by her mother, Carolyn, as "A delicate light pink," drew oohs and aaahs when she displayed it at a professional hairdresser's show here last weekend. In school, though, it drew stares and scowls.

"I'm going to take the color out sometime over the weekend," Mrs. Kaursh said.

Plan Gives Foreign Physicians Break

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 2,500 foreign physicians who failed to pass qualifying examinations in the United States two months ago can avoid deportation if U. S. hospitals set up a special educational program for them.

The American Medical Association announced the plan Tuesday. The plan, the AMA said, was worked out through agreement with the State Department, the American Hospital Association, and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Under the proposal, the foreign physicians who had assignments as staff physicians, residents or interns in American hospitals can take part in an educational program until the next examinations June 30, 1961. The program will not involve patient care.

Most of the foreign physicians are in the United States under exchange visas requiring that they continue their education here.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Considering many complications in the domestic, economic and international pictures, the general stock market has been remarkably resilient and the over-all price action has ben quite favorable."

He says the most constructive action that could occur now would be for the market averages to experience another period of low volume price consolidation while trying to reform a more stable base for an expected year end rally.

Ward predicts such an advance would carry above 620 on the Dow Jones industrial average.

"It should be pointed out," he says, "that the economy, business and the stock market are going through a readjustment—a normal period of indecision—and many investors and speculators are still sitting on the sidelines, reluctant to commit themselves on either the long or the short side until a better insight is gained of the major policies to be followed by the Kennedy administration.

"Right now we might say that the market is being pulled in two different directions: very questionable inflation thinking versus the declining business trend.

"Therefore, unless a definite pickup in business makes a broader, more aggressive buying policy seem warranted, we would confine new purchases to hand-picked individual stocks and selected groups."

R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. forecasts the leading market averages will climb between now and early 1961.

He says now that the emotion-packed election period has passed, corporate news has taken over as the prime reason behind movement in most individual stocks.

Auto Production Up

DETROIT (UPI)—The Automobile Manufacturers Association reported Tuesday that the auto industry turned out 172,000 vehicles last week, including 149,898 cars and 22,151 trucks and buses.

This was the highest weekly production since May 28 and compared with 138,831 cars and 20,995 trucks and buses in the previous week.

Bus Takes Zoo To Philadelphia Schools

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was like no school bus anybody had ever seen before. Instead of wearing the sober orange color of the orthodox bus, this one was bedecked with sportive animal figures.

And the way the driver was behaving, giving his cap a raffish tilt and calling out: "Hey, you animals, stop acting like a bunch of kids."

He wasn't kidding.

In the back of the bus were a cockatoo, a chimpanzee, two small monkeys, a kangaroo, a rabbit, a skunk, a boa constrictor and a baby llama.

The bus was bound from the zoo to a junior high school. At the wheel was William Maloney, superintendent of the special section for children at the zoo. With him were several helpers.

It was the kickoff of an experiment based on the idea that if you can't get the kids to the zoo, take the zoo to the kids. It has the approval of the School Board's Division of Audio-Visual Education, working with the Zoological Society.

Once the lively cargo was delivered, the pupils were freed from regular classes into a special assembly. Howls of joy greeted the animals' appearance on stage, especially when the llama was let loose, the skunk allowed to scamper about, and the kangaroo brought front and center to show how its young are carried in a pouch.

The novel program lasted an hour. The first half was strictly live, the second pictorial. Movies showed lions, tigers, elephants and other animals not easily brought into a school assembly.

The zoo-to-school program—acclaimed a big success—will start officially on Dec. 1. Officials said it is booked solidly for every school day until the end of February.

Atmospheric Research Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Science Foundation Tuesday announced plans for a research center in the Colorado mountains that will gather atmospheric data which some day may help make weather control possible.

A major function of the center will be to help universities conduct research they could not individually afford. Such research can be costly, involving use of aircraft, balloons, rockets and other expensive equipment.

Known as the National Center for Atmospheric Research, it will be built on Table Mountain, near Boulder, Colo. It will be headed by Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, formerly director of the high altitude observatory at Boulder.

The purpose of the center is to assist and coordinate meteorological research by universities and others. A science foundation spokesman said it was not being set up to conduct any weather control program.

But he added that the research program will be aimed at getting the kind of fundamental understanding of the atmosphere "which those who some day undertake to influence the weather must have if they are to succeed."

Club, Thanks To Old Map, May Get Liquor License

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Tamarack Country Club now has a good chance of getting a liquor license — thanks to an 1882 map.

Owners of the swank club, now under construction near Seneca, were dismayed recently to learn that their clubhouse — containing the bar — apparently was being built in the dry district of Darnestown. That meant the club wouldn't be eligible for a bar license.

Faced with the possibility of changing the clubhouse site, involving a loss of about $20,000, the club's owners took a second look at their property line.

In 1882, the search revealed, a property owner got the line changed to let him vote in the Darnestown district. The change in the district line was never correctly reported on the maps, Plummer M. Shearin, the club's attorney, Tuesday told the Montgomery County Council.

Actually, he said, the original map shows the club house to be one-half mile inside the Poolesville district which, unlike Darnestown, does not prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Plan Gives Foreign Physicians Break

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 2,500 foreign physicians who failed to pass qualifying examinations in the United States two months ago can avoid deportation if U. S. hospitals set up a special educational program for them.

The American Medical Association announced the plan Tuesday. The plan, the AMA said, was worked out through agreement with the State Department, the American Hospital Association, and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Under the proposal, the foreign physicians who had assignments as staff physicians, residents or interns in American hospitals can take part in an educational program until the next examinations June 30, 1961. The program will not involve patient care.

Most of the foreign physicians are in the United States under exchange visas requiring that they continue their education here.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Considering many complications in the domestic, economic and international pictures, the general stock market has been remarkably resilient and the over-all price action has ben quite favorable."

He says the most constructive action that could occur now would be for the market averages to experience another period of low volume price consolidation while trying to reform a more stable base for an expected year end rally.

Ward predicts such an advance would carry above 620 on the Dow Jones industrial average.

"It should be pointed out," he says, "that the economy, business and the stock market are going through a readjustment—a normal period of indecision—and many investors and speculators are still sitting on the sidelines, reluctant to commit themselves on either the long or the short side until a better insight is gained of the major policies to be followed by the Kennedy administration.

"Right now we might say that the market is being pulled in two different directions: very questionable inflation thinking versus the declining business trend.

"Therefore, unless a definite pickup in business makes a broader, more aggressive buying policy seem warranted, we would confine new purchases to hand-picked individual stocks and selected groups."

R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. forecasts the leading market averages will climb between now and early 1961.

He says now that the emotion-packed election period has passed, corporate news has taken over as the prime reason behind movement in most individual stocks.

Auto Production Up

DETROIT (UPI)—The Automobile Manufacturers Association reported Tuesday that the auto industry turned out 172,000 vehicles last week, including 149,898 cars and 22,151 trucks and buses.

This was the highest weekly production since May 28 and compared with 138,831 cars and 20,995 trucks and buses in the previous week.

Premature Tot World's Most Honored Man

LONDON (UPI)—There were so many parties and balls that gay social season of 1874 you could hardly blame Victorian society for being only mildly interested in a birth announcement in The Times:

"On the 30th Nov., at Blenheim Palace, the Lady Randolph Churchill, prematurely, of a son."

None of those who read it could have guessed that the 15-word notice was the opening sentence of the life story of one of the greatest men of his time.

Has Many Triumphs

In his long life he has Triumphed over all his opponents—except time. And, according to a friend, the indomitable old warrior is showing the same brand of courage that helped him save his nation and the Allies in World War II.

At 80, after two strokes and three heart attacks plus numerous bouts of pneumonia and other illnesses, his friends feared Churchill was entering into the decline of old age.

Six years later he walks more firmly, he has discarded glasses except for occasional wear, his appetite for food and wine is still good, his general health "remarkable" — considering his age and medical history. (He is now recuperating from a back injury, the result of a fall).

He Is A Millionaire

He has written himself into the millionaire class so he no longer writes for profit. But he is intensely interested in what happens to his works and he is looking forward to seeing the television films made from his memoirs of World War II by the American Broadcasting Co. and the BBC.

He still occasionally attends the House of Commons—the last survivor of the legislators who served Queen Victoria.

Makes Long Cruises

The older he gets the more Sir Winston wants to travel. He made two long cruises this year in the Adriatic and Mediterranean on the yacht of his friend, oil - tanker millionaire Aristotle Onassis, and twice spent long holidays in Monte Carlo at one of Onassis' hotels.

Sir Winston, who holds 150 major honors—military medals, foreign decorations, honorary degrees, freedoms of cities and countries in addition to the Nobel Prize—has his eye on a distinction he would like to add to his list.

It is the longevity record for British prime ministers. William Ewart Gladstone died at 89. Churchill will surpass him if he lives to 1964.

One wonders what the society leaders of 1874 would say if they knew that the bedroom in which th... premature baby was born is now one of Britain's top tourist draws.

Premature Tot World's Most Honored Man

LONDON (UPI)—There were so many parties and balls that gay social season of 1874 you could hardly blame Victorian society for being only mildly interested in a birth announcement in The Times:

None of those who read it could have guessed that the 15-word notice was the opening sentence of the life story of one of the greatest men of his time.

Has Many Triumphs

In his long life he has Triumphed over all his opponents—except time. And, according to a friend, the indomitable old warrior is showing the same brand of courage that helped him save his nation and the Allies in World War II.

At 80, after two strokes and three heart attacks plus numerous bouts of pneumonia and other illnesses, his friends feared Churchill was entering into the decline of old age.

Six years later he walks more firmly, he has discarded glasses except for occasional wear, his appetite for food and wine is still good, his general health "remarkable" — considering his age and medical history. (He is now recuperating from a back injury, the result of a fall).

He Is A Millionaire

He has written himself into the millionaire class so he no longer writes for profit. But he is intensely interested in what happens to his works and he is looking forward to seeing the television films made from his memoirs of World War II by the American Broadcasting Co. and the BBC.

He still occasionally attends the House of Commons—the last survivor of the legislators who served Queen Victoria.

Makes Long Cruises

The older he gets the more Sir Winston wants to travel. He made two long cruises this year in the Adriatic and Mediterranean on the yacht of his friend, oil - tanker millionaire Aristotle Onassis, and twice spent long holidays in Monte Carlo at one of Onassis' hotels.

Sir Winston, who holds 150 major honors—military medals, foreign decorations, honorary degrees, freedoms of cities and countries in addition to the Nobel Prize—has his eye on a distinction he would like to add to his list.

It is the longevity record for British prime ministers. William Ewart Gladstone died at 89. Churchill will surpass him if he lives to 1964.

One wonders what the society leaders of 1874 would say if they knew that the bedroom in which th... premature baby was born is now one of Britain's top tourist draws.

Red Educators Snoot Rugby Traditions

LONDON (AP) — Two Soviet educators visited one of Britain's snootiest boys' schools Tuesday looking for ideas to take back to the proletarian Soviet Union.

They snooted some of the snootier traditions.

First stop for A. A. Alexseenko, principal of a boys' school at Stalingrad, and A.A Bystrov, headmaster at a Leningrad boys' school, was Rugby.

Rugby is a 393-year-old institution, scene of the boyhood classic, "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

The Russians also will visit Eton and Harrow, two other schools whose graduates include kings, dukes and prime ministers.

The visiting educators were told about "fagging," the practice of younger boys waiting on older boys.

Through an interpreter, Alexseenko told Rugby headmaster Dr. Walker Hamilton: "As a teacher, I don't see any use in a younger boy having to do certain service for another. I think it should be the other way around."

Acquainted with the British school system of corporal punishment-whacks with a ruler or a birch switch — the Russian said: "It's degrading."

With that, Hamilton asked his visitors to walk through the school and meet some of its 700 students.

"Do the boys here look degraded?" asked Hamilton afterward.

"Nyet," chorused the Russians. "Yet most of them have been caned at one time or another," said Hamilton.

The visitors looked impressed. They said the U.S.S.R. was rapidly expanding its boarding school system and they hoped to take back many ideas from Britain.

But they'll be switched if they'll go in for fagging and caning.

Recount Ordered In Washington Race

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A recount was ordered Tuesday in Washington's 7th Congressional District election contest, where Democratic Rep. Don Magnuson apparently edged out Republican John Stender by 116 votes.

Republicans requested the recount. The County Election Board, composed of two Democrats and one Republican, agreed and arranged to start the recount next Monday. The result is expected Dec. 2.

BREAKAGE

BOSTON (UPI) — An average of 225 windows per month are broken in New Haven Railroad passenger cars. It costs about $81,000 annually for window repairs.

Baptists Pledge Kennedy Support

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—A resolution pledging "prayerful support" to the administration of President - elect Kennedy was adopted unanimously Tuesday by the District of Columbia Baptist Convention.

The convention, which represents 55 Baptist Churches in the Washington area, took the action in closing session of its 84th annual convention. The resolution, in part, said:

"... We hereby pledged our prayerful support to the new administration to the end that it may lead our nation to new high levels of spiritual dedication, personal freedom, political integrity and international good will."

Expands Research

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Narmco Industries, Inc., wholly-owned subsidiary of Telecomputing Corp. announced the purchase of Electro Instrument, Inc.' research facility in San Diego. The transaction was for an undisclosed amount of cash.

The convention also agreed to continue its special committee on inter-racial cooperation during the coming year.

They are the children who have never learned to read and who, it had been assumed, never would.

Miss Hunter, a teacher from Lincoln Avenue school in Orange, N.J., has put together a handbook full of guidance and work materials parents and teachers can use when attempting to help "trainable" retarded children to read.

In the forward to her book—"Reading Methods and Games for Teaching the Retarded Child" —the teacher reports that many of the children can learn to read if only the people who want most to help them will learn how to help.

She contends that few retarded children are unable to acquire the rudimentary training that will enable them to perform reasonably normal everyday activities.

"And consider the confidence the children acquire from such achievement, and the confidence which results from eliminating many of the obvious differences between themselves and their friends," Miss Hunter said.

"But without materials and guidance to rely upon, many parents give up. They think it is futile trying to teach the retarded child the rudiments of reading.

"And as a result, many retarded children, even those who are classified by educators as only 'trainable' are denied the opportunity of achieving so much as rudimentary reading skills."

The teacher said, that tests made during World II demonstrated that one can cope with the daily problems of life with only third grade reading ability.

"To the retarded child, to his parents, teachers, and friends, facts like these are the very substance of hope," she said.

Miss Hunter's handbook, published by Know Publications Inc., New York City, contains 50 games and devices, created during actual teaching of retarded children at various age levels in schools and in the children's homes.

Surplus Food Stamp Plan May Be Kennedy's First Major Farm Program Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first major move of the [illegible] ministration to implement its farm program may be [illegible] lishment of a food stamp plan for moving surplus foods to needy persons.

This plan was promised by the Democratic platform and by Sen. John F. Kennedy, the President-elect, in campaign speeches.

The Kennedy farm program can be divided into two facets—one affecting farm production, the other affecting distribution of agricultural commodities.

The way is clear—legislatively speaking as well as financially—to move into the distribution phase. But Congressional action is needed to carry out major production phases. As a consequence, it could well be 1962 before much can be done with regard to production.

The theme of the Kennedy program was to bring about a better balance between farm production and distribution.

Kennedy would seek to expand distribution through a food stamp plan and movement of larger supplies abroad to needy areas. Then if this expanded distribution still left overproduction, he would propose rigid production controls.

Congress last year gave the Agriculture Department authority to set up a food stamp plan, but Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson chose not to use it because, he said, such a program would be more expensive to operate than the present direct distribution program.

Under the food stamp plan, the government would issue scrip to needy persons which could be used at regular grocery stores to purchase the designated surplus foods. The government would redeem the scrip through banks. Under the present plan, the government donates stocks of food to state welfare agencies which in turn distribute it among local welfare units for distribution to relief clients.

The stamp plan undoubtedly would be set up in a few scattered areas at first so that experience might be gained in administering it before expanding it throughout the country. It would go first to economically distressed areas, including coal mining and steel centers where there is much unemployment, industrial areas suffering economic adjustments and to low income rural areas.

The Agriculture Department has ample funds to start the program. Money authorized for removal of farm surpluses from markets could be used for this purpose.

Foods made available under the stamp plan would be limited at first to those now being donated under the direct distribution plan. These are largely cereals, such as flour, cornmeal, dry beans, nonfat dry milk, rice, and food fats.

Wild birds do not sing more than eight or 10 weeks in the year.

Failures Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Business failures across the nation rose to 329 in the week ended Nov. 17 from 298 a week earlier and 287 in the same week last year, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. reported.

Insolvencies with liabilities of $5,000 and over rose to 296 from 263 a week earlier and 257 in the same week of 1959.

Jet Engines 'Eat' Apricots

LONDON (UPI) — Apricots — or apricot pits — have invaded the Jet Age.

They have moved into the workshops of the U.S. Air Force.

They gulp greasy jet fuel by the hundreds of gallons and, when parked, have been known to whisk the skirt off a passing lady into their jaws, or, on occasion, try to gulp down a mechanic.

They feed 'em apricot pits.

The apricot pits, ground up, are fed into the roaring engines as they run in a test cell, and it perks them up.

The ground-up apricot pits, called carbo-blast, are just abrasive enough to clean out the engine without harming its efficiency, M. Sgt. Ricardo Huerta, test cell NCO-in-charge, said.

We Have So Much To Be Thankful For

Let us pause on this day ,as our Pilgrim forefathers did so long ago . . . to give prayerful thanks, not only for the food on our table, but more importantly, for those freedoms we hold so dear, freedoms our forefathers sought and won in the new land, America. Our country has come a long, hard way since the day of that first meager harvest in 1621 . . . to truly become the "Land of Plenty" and the "Home of the Free". Let us pray it will always be!

B&O Income Shows Increase

Net income of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for October was $1,880,831, compared with $228,635 for the same month last year, an increase of $1,652,196, Howard E. Simpson, president, reports.

In September 1960 the B&O reported net income of $2,286,251, an increase of $2,054,796 over the same month of 1959.

For the first ten months of 1960, net income of $394,383 was reported, compared with $11,449,097 for the comparable 1959 period.

Income for the first ten months of the 1960 approximated $336.9 million, an increase of $2.8 million over the same 1959 period.

Expenses, reflecting a general wage increase, a cost-of-living wage increase and higher payments into the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Funds, totaled approximately $336.5 million for the first ten months of 1960, an increase of $13.8 million over the similar 1959 period.

ABL's Altair Motor Successful 20th Time In Tiros Rocket

The launching of another weather satellite from Cape Canaveral yesterday marks a spectacular record for a rocket developed by the Hercules Powder Company at its Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

When Tiros II was placed in orbit yesterday it was the 20th successful space flight in 20 attempts to use the ABL X-248 Altair rocket. The new satellite was carried into space in the nose of Thor-Delta rocket, with the X-248 as its third stage.

Scientists at Cape Canaveral also pointed out that the firing was the 14th space success of the year.

The X-248, ABL officials report, is the same motor that has been used in many of America's space probes, and marks another milestone for the Altair, whose propellant charge was designed by engineers at the Pinto installation to be burned under the vacuum conditions that exist at high altitudes.

The ABL spokesmen said ten years of research and development by Hercules Powder Company's scientists and engineers produced the glass filament reinforced plastic case which housed the propellant charge that placed today's satellite in orbit.

The case material, lighter than metal but just as strong, is called Spiralloy and has enabled rocket designers to put greater weight of propellant in the finished rocket engine.

Space vehicles that use the X-248 Altair include Thor-Able I, Javelin, Vanguard III, Tiros I, Atlas-Able V and Scout among others.

The pictures, scientists claim, will be taken from 400 miles out in space and will map weather conditions over an area extending 3,600 miles north and south of the equator.

Loaded with two television "eyes" and seven infra-red detectors, the satellite has an even more ambitious task—a study of the earth's "heat balance" with an eye toward precision forecasting and perhaps even control of the weather.

Santa's Helpers Going To 'School'

Capt. Joseph Roden, who helps conduct the Volunteers' School for Santas here, says the city-stationed Santas usually are men down on their luck or unemployable.

Some are alcoholics who have taken the pledge and have been completely rehabilitated, he said. All have been thoroughly screened so that only the best assume the role of Santa.

"It's rare when one of these men falls off the wagon," Roden said. "They get into the spirit of the job and are very much aware of their responsibilities, particularly to children. They usually live up to their word."

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest American Greek letter college fraternity. It was founded at William and Mary college Dec. 5, 1776.

B&O Income Shows Increase

Net income of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for October was $1,880,831, compared with $228,635 for the same month last year, an increase of $1,652,196, Howard E. Simpson, president, reports.

In September 1960 the B&O reported net income of $2,286,251, an increase of $2,054,796 over the same month of 1959.

For the first ten months of 1960, net income of $394,383 was reported, compared with $11,449,097 for the comparable 1959 period.

Income for the first ten months of the 1960 approximated $336.9 million, an increase of $2.8 million over the same 1959 period.

Expenses, reflecting a general wage increase, a cost-of-living wage increase and higher payments into the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Funds, totaled approximately $336.5 million for the first ten months of 1960, an increase of $13.8 million over the similar 1959 period.

The launching of another weather satellite from Cape Canaveral yesterday marks a spectacular record for a rocket developed by the Hercules Powder Company at its Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

When Tiros II was placed in orbit yesterday it was the 20th successful space flight in 20 attempts to use the ABL X-248 Altair rocket. The new satellite was carried into space in the nose of Thor-Delta rocket, with the X-248 as its third stage.

Scientists at Cape Canaveral also pointed out that the firing was the 14th space success of the year.

The X-248, ABL officials report, is the same motor that has been used in many of America's space probes, and marks another milestone for the Altair, whose propellant charge was designed by engineers at the Pinto installation to be burned under the vacuum conditions that exist at high altitudes.

The ABL spokesmen said ten years of research and development by Hercules Powder Company's scientists and engineers produced the glass filament reinforced plastic case which housed the propellant charge that placed today's satellite in orbit.

The case material, lighter than metal but just as strong, is called Spiralloy and has enabled rocket designers to put greater weight of propellant in the finished rocket engine.

Space vehicles that use the X-248 Altair include Thor-Able I, Javelin, Vanguard III, Tiros I, Atlas-Able V and Scout among others.

The pictures, scientists claim, will be taken from 400 miles out in space and will map weather conditions over an area extending 3,600 miles north and south of the equator.

Loaded with two television "eyes" and seven infra-red detectors, the satellite has an even more ambitious task—a study of the earth's "heat balance" with an eye toward precision forecasting and perhaps even control of the weather.

Santa's Helpers Going To 'School'

Capt. Joseph Roden, who helps conduct the Volunteers' School for Santas here, says the city-stationed Santas usually are men down on their luck or unemployable.

Some are alcoholics who have taken the pledge and have been completely rehabilitated, he said. All have been thoroughly screened so that only the best assume the role of Santa.

"It's rare when one of these men falls off the wagon," Roden said. "They get into the spirit of the job and are very much aware of their responsibilities, particularly to children. They usually live up to their word."

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest American Greek letter college fraternity. It was founded at William and Mary college Dec. 5, 1776.

Two First National Bank Directors Are Appointed

Two new directors were elected yesterday by the board of directors of the First National Bank and Trust Company.

A. W. Tindal, president, said the new board members are William S. Jenkins, Frostburg attorney and businessman, and Hugh D. Shires, 698 Fayette Street, vice president and trust officer of the First National.

Jenkins, a vice president and director of the Frostburg National Bank, is president of both the Maryland Coal and Realty Company and Consolidated Fuel Company.

A member of the Cumberland law firm of Capper, Jenkins and Berry, he is also president of the board of trustees of Miners Hospital in Frostburg, and is a trustee of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

Jenkins did his undergraduate studies at Dickinson College and is a graduate of the Harvard University School of Law.

He and his wife, the former Phoebe Roberts of Boston, have two children. Linda is a horseback riding instructor at Gunston School, Centreville, Md., and a son, W. Steven Jenkins, a graduate of Staunton, Military Academy, is a freshman at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Shires has been in banking business since his graduation from Allegany High School in 1936.

He entered the Army in 1941 and was graduated from Officers Candidate School, Fort Benning, Ga. He served with combat troops in Italy and at the end of World War II, he went on inactive status as a captain.

During the Korean War, he returned to duty and served in 1951 and 1952 in France. Shires was discharged as a major.

He was employed by the Liberty Trust Company from 1936 until 1956, with the exception of the military leaves. In 1956, he joined First National as assistant trust officer and the following year was promoted to vice president and trust officer.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I do not eat meat on Friday. His sister-in-law who belongs to the same religious faith doesn't pay any attention to the religious rules. According to her it's a lot of nonsense.

I have no quarrel with her and as far as I'm concerned she can do as she pleases. However, the question I would like to ask is this: My sister-in-law and her husband go to my mother-in-law's home at least twice a week for dinner. My husband and I go, also. My mother-in-law is a marvelous cook and it is her greatest pleasure to have us over for meals.

On Fridays my mother-in-law does not serve meat. This sister-in-law brings a nice juicy steak for herself. Do you think it is proper? My mother-in-law has never complained, but I know she doesn't like it. — ASKING

DEAR ASKING: Your sister-in-law has poor judgment, worse manners, and apparently her religion doesn't mean anything to her either. If she is unable to live without a steak on Friday she should have the decency to stay at home and eat it by herself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 15 who has a serious problem I can't talk to anyone about. I think I am losing my mind.

I have a nice home life, lovely parents and a sweet brother. We have no money worries and I get good grades in school. I have many friends — both boys and girls. For some reason I have flashes of horrible thoughts and I can't seem to get rid of them.

My most frequent thought is what would happen if I died suddenly. I imagine what my funeral would be like, what the kids at school would say, how my folks would take it, and all sorts of crazy things like that. I imagine myself an angel in the sky, looking down on all this. Please tell me if you think I am mentally ill.—FUNERAL WATCHER

DEAR WATCHER: Everyone has flashes of morbidity and builds fantasies around his own funeral. Have a substitute thought ready to drive this one out of your mind — and keep busy. If this is your only symptom you can stop worrying.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been going with a man for three years. We finally decided to get married. He kept stalling me off until one day I said, "Something is wrong—what is it?"

He told me he was already married and that his wife was in a mental institution. He has handed me so many lies about minor and major things that I don't know if he is lying about this, too. I asked him to bring some papers to prove it. So far he has not brought any proof.

I told him to leave me alone but he keeps dropping around where I work, and calling me on the phone. I just don't know if I should trust him a little longer in the hope that he will figure out a way to marry me after all. Please give me some advice.—THELMA

DEAR THELMA: No matter how you slice it it sounds like baloney. If this Romeo has a wife he has no business dating you. If he HASN'T a wife and invented one as an excuse to avoid marrying you, what do you want with him?

Tell him goodbye as if you meant it — with an exclamation point in your voice, instead of a question mark.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I do not eat meat on Friday. His sister-in-law who belongs to the same religious faith doesn't pay any attention to the religious rules. According to her it's a lot of nonsense.

I have no quarrel with her and as far as I'm concerned she can do as she pleases. However, the question I would like to ask is this: My sister-in-law and her husband go to my mother-in-law's home at least twice a week for dinner. My husband and I go, also. My mother-in-law is a marvelous cook and it is her greatest pleasure to have us over for meals.

On Fridays my mother-in-law does not serve meat. This sister-in-law brings a nice juicy steak for herself. Do you think it is proper? My mother-in-law has never complained, but I know she doesn't like it. — ASKING

DEAR ASKING: Your sister-in-law has poor judgment, worse manners, and apparently her religion doesn't mean anything to her either. If she is unable to live without a steak on Friday she should have the decency to stay at home and eat it by herself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 15 who has a serious problem I can't talk to anyone about. I think I am losing my mind.

I have a nice home life, lovely parents and a sweet brother. We have no money worries and I get good grades in school. I have many friends — both boys and girls. For some reason I have flashes of horrible thoughts and I can't seem to get rid of them.

My most frequent thought is what would happen if I died suddenly. I imagine what my funeral would be like, what the kids at school would say, how my folks would take it, and all sorts of crazy things like that. I imagine myself an angel in the sky, looking down on all this. Please tell me if you think I am mentally ill.—FUNERAL WATCHER

DEAR WATCHER: Everyone has flashes of morbidity and builds fantasies around his own funeral. Have a substitute thought ready to drive this one out of your mind — and keep busy. If this is your only symptom you can stop worrying.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been going with a man for three years. We finally decided to get married. He kept stalling me off until one day I said, "Something is wrong—what is it?"

He told me he was already married and that his wife was in a mental institution. He has handed me so many lies about minor and major things that I don't know if he is lying about this, too. I asked him to bring some papers to prove it. So far he has not brought any proof.

I told him to leave me alone but he keeps dropping around where I work, and calling me on the phone. I just don't know if I should trust him a little longer in the hope that he will figure out a way to marry me after all. Please give me some advice.—THELMA

DEAR THELMA: No matter how you slice it it sounds like baloney. If this Romeo has a wife he has no business dating you. If he HASN'T a wife and invented one as an excuse to avoid marrying you, what do you want with him?

Tell him goodbye as if you meant it — with an exclamation point in your voice, instead of a question mark.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prejudice Creates Much Hardship For African Envoys In Washington

By PATRICIA CONNOR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sixteen new African nations are naming ambassadors to a capital which they rate as a "hardship post"—namely, Washington, D.C.

Negotiations are underway between the U. S. and African governments to establish embassies here for the countries which recently gained their independence. Some ambassadors already have been named and welcomed by the United States; others have yet to be announced.

When all arrangements are completed, it will be the biggest embassy boom the nation's capital has seen since the United States won its own independence.

Brilliant new flags flying over Washington's streets will represent Nigeria, Gabon, Republic of Congo, Central African Republic, Congo Republic, Republic of Chad, Republic of Ivory Coast, Voltaic Republic, Republic of Niger, Republic of Dahomey, Republic of Somali, Malagasay, Republic of Senegal, Republic of Mali, Republic of Togo, Republic of Cameroon, and Mauretania, which becomes independent Nov. 28.

But what makes beautiful Washington a "hardship post" for African diplomats? One reason is that this is an expensive place for a newborn nation to establish diplomatic representation.

Acquiring an embassy, means buying or renting quarters in a city where real estate is as high as protocol's top hat. It also means staffing those quarters and furnishing them in a manner befitting a proud country's home in a foreign land. And for every banquet and reception invitation in this city of perpetual partying, it means reciprocal entertainment. Even the U.S. has found some embassy posts require ambassadors with private means who can afford the pace.

But State Department officials and African diplomats admit that the real "hardship" stems from the racial barriers which still exist here. Dark-skinned representatives, from ambassadors on down, have trouble finding decent homes in respectable neighborhoods—and even finding embassy sites.

Some residents of all-white apartment houses and neighborhoods object to admitting the Negroes — although these objectors often are in the minority. If an African does find a suitable house it may be at twice the regular price. Africans are proud of their native costume, but they sometimes must wear the brightly colored garb as a silent defense against the rebuffs they would receive if taken for native American Negroes.

The State Department is unable to act directly, a spokesman explained, but it is deeply concerned over the problem and the bad image it can cast in the international mirror of opinion. Stimulus toward solving the problem has come from city officials and real estate groups.

A recent meeting between city commissioners, State Department officials and realty representatives started action for setting up a "housing liaison" man in the State Department to help new diplomats with housing and similar problems. At present there is no such machinery in the government. It would give diplomats someone to go to at the start and someone who could elicit cooperation from realtors.

A city spokesman termed "unbelievable" the enthusiasm for the project by local realtors "who represent millions of dollars of property."

"It's too bad Uncle Sam doesn't ask more of this kind of help from people," he added, "when they're so eager to give."

Other diplomats may have difficulties getting settled, too, he said, but the new nations have no predecessors for guidance. Their representatives are trailblazers here and they have been allowed to "muddle through" by themselves.

A State Department officer, back from a recent trip to Africa and who has set up U.S. offices in several African countries, said they "have been extremely cooperative with us and our problems" in opening embassies here. He added that many Africans arriving here have spent much time in Europe and are "shocked" by their contact with prejudice here.

'America is underdeveloped in some ways too," he said.

Plymouth Observes Day Elaborately

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — Thanksgiving came early to Plimoth Plantation, the recreation of the original Pilgrim colony.

More than 70 persons, dressed in authentic Pilgrim costumes, or as Indians, spent several days in October recreating the first Thanksgiving for a Coronet instructional film for school use.

However, Thanksgiving won't go unobserved. Fifty-two Plymouth residents, many of them direct descendants of the Pilgrims, will don Pilgrim costumes to recreate a time-hallowed custom — the Pilgrims' Progress. It is the march to worship, family by family, strung out in a long column and led by a drummer boy.

George Bernard Shaw said: "I believe in the discipline of silence and could talk for hours about it."

The Real Reason For Thanksgiving

The people of the United States pause to celebrate their own most ancient holiday. Ours is a climate that makes men vigorous. Ours is a soil fertile and more than sufficient to yield a varied and bountiful food supply. Beneath it lie mineral riches, some of them in inexhaustible supply. Ample rainfall makes this a green and smiling land, a land of lakes and streams.

The pioneers who wrested it from the forests and the sage, and the philosophers and soldiers and statesmen who made it a nation gave us traditions of freedom. We are governed by laws written and administered by men we regard as our servants and not our masters.

To our country have come men of talent, men of curiosity and resourcefulness and ingenuity. They and their sons have produced miracles. They have harnessed the elements, penetrated the secrets of nature, mastered the laws of physics and have therefore made life more comfortable, lessened the arduousness of daily toil, given us unparalleled facilities for communication, amusement and enlightenment.

They have eliminated the causes of many diseases, have found cures for many afflictions, have made us healthier and longer-lived.

The Pilgrims fled from unsettled political conditions which seemed unbearable to them. They faced danger in a risky ocean voyage and in the unknown perils of a wilderness home. In their new surroundings they faced hardships at least the equal of any on earth today.

We are a proud, sometimes vain, people and some of us think our superiority as a nation is attributable to our own unaided efforts. Thanksgiving Day should inspire less complacent thoughts, should cause each of us to ponder the ultimate source of the abundance of American life.

'The Nerve Of Those Yankee Invaders!'

By Drew Pearson

Washington, D. C.

Dear Joe,

This letter should reach you around Thanksgiving Day — When you and your brothers and your mother will be sitting down to a good turkey dinner. I know you will be thankful for that dinner. And I hope you will also remember to be thankful that you have a home to eat it in, and such nice big brothers to play with, even if they do boss you around sometimes.

Remember that there are lots of other little boys in the world who don't have any brothers, or any home or any family at all.

We have some other things to be grateful for in this country which you won't entirely understand until you get a little older—the great freedoms we enjoy. We have our early ancestors to thank for these freedoms — which include freedom of religion, freedom of speech, and freedom of the press.

One of your ancestors, your great-great-grandfather, Joseph Medill, for whom you were named, was founder of the Chicago Tribune, while an uncle for whom you were also named, Joseph Patterson, was an editor of the Chicago Tribune and later founded the New York Daily News. So you come from a family which knows something about a free press.

Joseph Medill, a Republican, was a friend of Abraham Lincoln and helped to put him in the White House, while your uncle, Joe Patterson helped put Franklin Roosevelt in the White House. They represented the vigorous, sometimes vitriolic days of journalism, when there were many newspapers competing against each other, and when Americans who didn't like what they read in one newspaper could turn to another. Your Uncle Joe Patterson even started a brand new paper in New York, when that city already had five or six papers, and built the News up until it had the biggest circulation in the entire United States.

Your relatives went in for investigative, crusading reporting, and your great-great-grandfather Medill broke with his friend Abraham Lincoln over some of the mistakes of the Civil War, while your Uncle Joe Patterson broke with his friend President Roosevelt over some of the policies of the New Deal.

Death Toll Of Papers

In recent years there have become fewer and fewer newspapers: One of them quit publishing in Detroit only recently. So by the time you're grown up you may find that in most American cities there will be only one, or at the most two newspapers.

And as newspapers become a monopoly they tend, unless their editors are very alert and their publishers very wise, to lose their old crusading spirit and the vigor of competition which in the past helped to keep this country on its toes. Because it was very small newspapers, carrying no advertising, which spurred the country to great new freedoms in 1776. Those papers were so disagreeable, so courageous, and the British considered them so scurrilous, that a special clause was inserted in the new Constitution to protect freedom of the press.

In the last six American elections, beginning with President Roosevelt's third-term election in 1940, the great majority of American newspapers have lined up behind one political party—the Republican Party.

There was no danger from this when you had many competing newspapers and the reader could take his choice. But with fewer newspapers and more monopoly newspapers cities, we run the risk of getting the same kind of one-party press that we criticize in Russia.

Quite recently I wrote a story about a loan which Vice President Nixon's brother received from a big industrialist, Howard Hughes. It was not unlike a loan which Elliott Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, received from John Hartford, head of the A&P Stores. And although most newspapers were severly critical of Elliott Roosevelt's loan, some of these same newspapers were critical of me for revealing a similar loan to Nixon's brother.

Most of them played up the denial of my story, rather than the facts in the story, even though the denial proved to be completely untrue.

On the other hand, some editors published the story with complete impartiality, and some even got irritated because they did not receive the story in time for prompt publication.

And some editors, I learned afterward, wanted to publish the story but were restrained by their publishers who had forgotten that it was disrespectful little papers which needled the nation and won new freedoms in 1776.

Some politicians accused me of trying to smear Mr. Nixon by publishing this story during the last two weeks of the election. However it takes long hours and days of work to dig out some of these carefully concealed transactions. It took three months to dig out the fact that the right-hand man to President Eisenhower, Sherman Adams, had been receiving favors from a New England wool manufacturer. And it took a long time to dig out the facts about the mink coats and deep freezers of Mr. Truman's cronies. Some people called those smears too

And what I am afraid of is that young newspapermen, working for complacent publishers in monopoly cities, seeing that their publishers don't want people in high places embarrassed, will lose the old energy and investigative vigor of the relatives for whom you were named and of the "scurrilous" editors who pioneered our first freedoms If that time ever comes, then we will gradually erode those freedoms and gradually fulfill Mr. K's boast that our grandchildren will live under Communism.

Remember that if you ever decide to become a newspaperman.

With Love,
Your Grandfather

An Estimate Of The National Balance Sheet

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

These words are written in an interval of packing before a flight to Berlin, that place a sacred Western trust which is still directly and continuously menaced by the Soviets and their East German puppets.

When this journey ends, the new American Administration, will be largely formed, and the old Administration will be waiting, with increasing impatience, for its cue to depart from Washington. It seems a good time to try to estimate the nature of the heritage, the condition of the estate, which Dwight D. Eisenhower will transmit to John F. Kennedy.

President Eisenhower's own estimate of his stewardship is well known from persons who have seen him recently. He is bitterly indignant, to the point of frequent outbursts of barrack-room language, about the outcome of the election. He thinks his record ought to have been overwhelmingly endorsed by a big vote for Vice President Nixon. He genuinely believes that he is leaving the nation's affairs in far better shape.

The country as a whole quite clearly does not share this hopeful Presidential estimate. A growing uneasiness grips a substantial majority, including large numbers of Rockefeller-style Republicans who voted for Nixon. The ferment started with the brutal disillusionment of the first Soviet satellite launching. By now, the feeling that all is somehow not as it ought to be has penetrated almost everywhere, except perhaps to such retreats as the locker-room of the Augusta National.

Meanwhile, the harsh facts indicate that the national situation is very much worse than the most uneasy members of the general public suppose. The threat to Berlin is only the culminating symbol of what has happened to the American and Western posture in the world since November 1952.

In those years, most of them so easy-going here in America, the Soviets have made important gains in the Middle East. They have made immense gains in chaotic Africa. They have maintained unrelenting pressure on Southeast Asia. And even in Latin America, they have now established a major political base in Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Eight years ago, anyone gloomy enough to predict these developments would have been handed over to a psychiatrist. But today, the Kremlin's influence is powerfully felt, not just along the borders of the Communist empire as in 1952, but up to ninety miles from the shores of the United States and in every other strategically vital area of the globe.

Nor is that the end of the story. Neutralism is growing in the bosom of the Western alliance itself, and especially in Britain, the second of the Western allies. With Berlin under threat, NATO is in deep disorder. Despite the smug proclamations of the Pentagon, the world balance of power is still deteriorating. And after eight years of national policy-making wholly dominated by the idea of a "sound dollar," the dollar is alarmingly weak on the international exchanges, and the American economy itself is stagnant or worse.

In sum, the estate that Kennedy will inherit shows a somber balance sheet. Furthermore, the fault does not lie with Ambassador A's follies in country B; the balance is not so bad because Secretary X unwisely insisted on policy Y. The trouble goes deeper than that.

The trouble is that the vast struggle for the world continuously demands the utmost in American vigor and imagination and national power. We cannot duck out of or elude that struggle, anymore than Britain was able to duck out of or elude the struggle with Hitler in the thirties.

The struggle is not of our making; it is inescapable and survival depends upon the outcome. And we have lost so much ground in this struggle in these last years because we have been comfortable rather than vigorous, conservative rather than imaginative, and because these attitudes have led to grave neglect of the world power balance.

This progressive, generalized loss of ground has not yet reached the kind of point-of-no-return that was reached, in the thirties, at Munich. By a great effort, which may demand considerable sacrifice, much of the lost ground may yet be regained. It is clear that Kennedy senses the need for such an effort. It was the whole theme of his campaign.

But Kennedy's specific ideas of how the effort ought to be made have not yet been revealed. And above all, it remains to be seen how the country will respond, when suddenly acquainted with the true state of the national balance sheet.

The Cabinet

Guessing about the Cabinet is no longer a game. Politicians are deeply concerned because they wonder what will happen to them in this curious election. Businessmen are concerned because they wonder who will direct the Department of Justice which, during the Eisenhower Administration, violated both common sense and the economic interests of the country by anti-trust prosecutions which failed to recognize that we were no longer in the Administration of William Howard Taft.

Most of all, interest centers about the Secretary of State. Many names are being mentioned, among them Chester Bowles, Senator Fulbright, Adlai Stevenson, General Gruenther, Dean Acheson and more. None of these have any political claims on President-elect Kennedy. They contributed nothing to his nomination or election.

Chester Bowles, it was once assumed, was sure in. The State Department has two major tasks before it: one, is the management of the American side of the Cold War; the other, is a total reorganization of the State Department which is an unusually incompetently organized and managed department of government. Had Vice President Nixon been elected, it was his plan to organize a new department to supervise all Cold War activities with his Vice President, Henry Cabot Lodge, in charge. This would have left to the State Department routine matters and would have given any Secretary of State an opportunity to reorganize and rebuild his department. Whether Kennedy will adopt some such plan is not known. Chester Bowles has often expressed his ideas concerning foreign affairs and is better informed about India, to which he was ambassador, than about the problems of the Cold War.

Senator Fulbright, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, is, of course, well informed as to our foreign relations. Apart from that, his administrative abilities have not been on display.

Adlai Stevenson is naturally well known to the country. Twice a candidate for the Presidency, he has often expressed his views on foreign affairs.

He is liberal-minded and his language is fuzzy but it would appear that, on the whole, he is given to unconsciousness of the perils of the Russian territorial advances but has definite ideas as to what should be done in Latin America.

So we come to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State during the Truman Administration. Even his enemies admit that Dean Acheson is an excellent technician in international relations. Their objection to him is that for the failure in Korea. However, since Dean Acheson left the State Department, he has delivered addresses and has written articles which disclose that his understanding of the Cold War is sound, that his appraisal of Soviet Russia and the growth of the Soviet Universal State is sound. It will perhaps astound Dean Acheson that many of those who formerly opposed him now regard him favorably.

Perhaps equal to the Secretary of State in importance is the Ambassador to the United Nations. He is daily on the firing line. He has to make trip-hammer decisions and his language affects relations immediately. He must be forthright, experienced, wily and articulate. The best man this country has produced for this job is Henry Cabot Lodge. While no man is indispensable, it would be a waste of talent not to employ Lodge—who is a Republican.

The next most important appointment is the Secretary of the Treasury. Many names are mentioned. Two tower above the rest, Eugene Black of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and John J. McCloy who was our pro-consul in Germany from 1949 to 1952 and subsequently became chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank. These men understand international finance and the handling of the dollar. This Administration needs talent without regard to party or any other impediment.

The third most important appointment is that of Attorney General. This office has been managed unrealistically in recent years. It requires a mind that grasps the relationship of social and economic conditions in the United States to the law. Its supervision of the courts should be tighter; its recommendations to the President regarding judges should elevate the judiciary by eliminating party politics. Thus far, two names have appeared: Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and manager. Both are excellent men for this position.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MEAT — Housewives can look forward to more meat at cheaper prices next year. Agriculture experts in Washington freely predict this will be so because of large feed supplies at low prices which are now available to cattle and hog processors.

Big feed supplies induce farmers to raise more livestock. Low prices of feed grains induce them to convert them into meat through livestock feeding.

Soybean meal, a key protein, is selling for $45 a ton, $15 under the level a year ago. The price of corn is the lowest in 17 years. Oats are down.

These factors are expected to increase marketings of grain-fattened cattle by four per cent next year. One forecast in the other direction: the number of egg-laying chickens will shrink.

INAUGURATION — Inauguration plans for the new President, January 20, are moving rapidly ahead, but there are some esthetic difficulties. For one, the newly-painted Capitol dome, now an off-white, doesn't match the pure white facade of the new East Front. The colors are a shade apart.

The problem has to do with the bluish cast of the marble on the East Front. Most of the Capitol building blends with the dome nicely, as the stone has had many years to weather and soften in hue.

When the dome is viewed from the west, north or south, it blends perfectly with the building. Over the years, the East front, too, will gradually come into blend.

Anyway, most eyes will be focused on the man with his hand on the Bible. It is doubtful that the Inauguration will be considered a failure because of the clashing colors.

Vision And Money

By John Crosby

The administration of a modern city requires two things—vision and money. Few cities have either; none has both. The biggest municipal problem in the world today is the metropolitan district which plagues not only our own country but every industrial society — London in England, Tokyo in Japan, Paris in France, and New York and many other cities in this country.

In each of these cities huge population complexes spill out over immensely confusing and overlapping governmental units, all archaic. The New York complex alone comprises 14,000,000 people who spill out over three states (New York, New Jerey, and Connecticut), counties, boroughs, districts, municipalities — each with its own jealously guarded slice of sovereignty.

Now the most impractical man in the world is the practical man who says that nothing can be done about it and who perishes in his own practicality. (Probably get caught in a traffic jam in 1982 and die of starvation trying to get to work). So, let us abandon the practical man to his practicality and be, for a moment, visionary.

The ideal city is one that proudly and jealously guards its past, lives decently and comfortably in its present, and fearlessly and intelligently plans its future. No city does all these things completely. Still, Paris does pretty well. So does Copenhagen. London is engulfed occasionally by its hugeness and population, but it is still a lovely and gracious city. London, incidentally, is the classic refutation of those who will tell you it's too late to do anything. London was "too late" to be rescued in 1700 when Sir Christopher Wren's master plan to rebuild the city after the great fire of 1666 was largely ignored. It was "too late" to rescue London through the middle of the nineteenth century when it was a wretched, squalid, hideous collection of slums which Dickens railed at. And, in spite of all this too lateness, London emerged in the early twentieth century as one of the most beautiful and charming cities in the Western world. It's never too late.

Now, sir, New York. No civilized city in the world desecrates its past so constantly and so contemptuously as New York. No other great city allows lunatics like William Zeckendorf to run loose, tear down huge blocks of buildings, run out of money, and leave a hole in the ground. No other city would let its great monuments — Carnegie Hall (rescued by one man), the Metropolitan Opera House, Penn Station, Grand Central Station, the Plaza Hotel — all of them doomed or threatened (except Carnegie Hall which recently was) to go under the hammer of any real estate speculator with money or (in Zeckendorf's case) credit.

What New York most urgently needs is a beaux arts commission which is empowered to designate its great and beautiful buildings, whether they are in private or public hands, as belonging to the ages, and therefore to be preserved for the spiritual nourishment and esthetic enrichment of the whole city. In France, if you own a Mansard house, you cannot alter any of its exterior without permission which is almost impossible to get. France almost bankrupts itself maintaining public buildings, but it also keeps close watch on private edifices which are part of its cultural heritage. In New Orleans, the French Quarter is mostly in private hands but you cannot even paint the shutters except the color the beaux arts commission designates and you can't change any part of the exterior without permission which you won't get. These dwellings are considered the property of everyone no matter who owns them or who lives in them.

No other civilized city would allow a landmark like the Rhinelander house on Washington Square to be sacrificed to a hideous modern apartment in order to squeeze a little more money out of the land. Beautiful buildings are never obsolete. Modern apartment buildings are obsolescent almost before they are finished. In order to halt this barbarism we need a beaux arts commission, staffed by intelligent and fearless individuals and not, for God's sake, overrun by architects. (Architects are generally pleasant fellows, who know a lot about history, art, sociology, mathematics, engineering, and also the price cement and pipe. The one thing they know very little about is architecture and you must watch them closely when building is discussed because that isn't their dish of tea at all.)

Most of the ravages in New York and elsewhere are caused by the tax structure. This is a worldwide problem. Municipal revenues the world over are inadequate because they are almost all based on real estate taxes. These are monstrously unwise for two reasons: first, they don't provide nearly enough money; second, and to me most important, they tear the guts out of a city in the ever increasing pressure to produce more and more revenue from a foot of land.

Thus, we destroy our past, create a huge economic problem, traffic problem, housing problem, and parking problem for our future, all to live marginally and increasingly uncomfortably in the present. This is absolute lunacy.

Every great city must harmonize its past, its present, and its future, or it will become—as I think our great cities in fifty years will become—almost uninhabitable.

Things To Think About On Thanksgiving Day

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It might be well this year to forget our purchasable benefits and be thankful for our less tangible assets. Our family, integrity, health, courage, and good name are the true blessings that bring real enjoyment and satisfaction. Traditionally, this has been our way of life.

The world is getting smaller and, with each passing year, new crises and problems arise. Let us be grateful that we have survived.

The cold war is an anxiety producer and we must remain strong to back up our convictions. Prosperity is desirable but it tends to corrode mans mind. A purly financial goal is foolish when it robs us of integrity and morality. There are signs that the uncertainty of the future are getting us down. More and more we realize the wisdom of the statement, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

The United States of America never will be conquered from without but it could happen from within. We must watch for that internal decay that begins in those who worship the golden calf and have grown complacement and lazy by feeding on the fatted calf. These people are willing to risk their neighbor's neck to preserve their own nest egg.

A man can lose his tangible assets overnight but not his religion, integrity, honor, loyalty, and courage. These are the characteristics that mean something when the enemy is breathing down our neck.

These traits also allow a man to think and to reason. They are the basic ingredients of good mental health which in turn brings satisfaction and the ability to face the world with confidence. We can be thankful that so many Americans live in this moral climate.

SPLAY FOOTED

B. R. writes: Should anything be done about a Charlie Chaplin walk in a 1 year old?

REPLY

Most children are just learning to walk at this time and the majority keep the feet apart to maintain balance. Walking with the toes out is a variation, but if it continues, a small wedge on the bottom of each shoe will encourage turning in of the feet.

BUNION IS BURSITIS

G. L. writes: Can bursitis develope around bunions?

REPLY

THYROID ACTIVITY

R. R. writes: Could a minus 15 metabolism account for overweight?

REPLY

Yes, provided other signs of low thyroid activity are present. Minus 15 is a borderline reading.

KNEE CROSSING

J. L. writes: Isn't sitting with the knees crossed hard on the circulation?

REPLY

Yes, depending upon how the knees are crossed. It is possible to press on the nerves and blood vessels located behind the knee, producing numbness and tingling of the lower legs.

LIFE CHANGES

Mrs. B. writes: What are the most common things that go wrong during the menopause?

REPLY

Loneliness when the children go away to school or get married, hot flashes that come on when least expected, and the realization that you are not as young as you were.

BRUSHING AND BALDING

H. H. writes: If the hair is falling out fast, will the use of a hair brush hasten the loss?

REPLY

Yes, if the bristles are hard and brushing is vigorous.

MAN BITES MAN

T. K. writes: What kind of tests are made on a man who bites another person?

REPLY

Mental tests. Human bites are serious because the mouth is a hotbed of lethal micro-organisms.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A Park Avenue psychoanalyst was driving peacefully on the N. Y. Thruway when a speed maniac rammed him from behind. The analyst leapt from his car waving his fist and screaming, "You idiot! You numskull! You rat!" Then, suddenly, he remembered his profession, and added, Now tell me why you hate your mother."

There is no reason for a banquet chairman to writhe when a speaker pulls a boner or says something way out of line. As the late William Collier used to point out when he was acting as toastmaster, "It's my job only to introduce the speakers: not guarantee them!"

A big movie star, handsome, dashing—and dumb, was accorded a reception in Japan. Suddenly

called upon to speak, with not a ghost writer within hailing distance, the big star floundered, "Er, hello out there! Er—I want to tell you that your flu has caught on real big in the U.S.A.!"

Eight years ago, anyone gloomy enough to predict these developments would have been handed over to a psychiatrist. But today, the Kremlin's influence is powerfully felt, not just along the borders of the Communist empire as in 1952, but up to ninety miles from the shores of the United States and in every other strategically vital area of the globe.

Nor is that the end of the story. Neutralism is growing in the bosom of the Western alliance itself, and especially in Britain, the second of the Western allies. With Berlin under threat, NATO is in deep disorder. Despite the smug proclamations of the Pentagon, the world balance of power is still deteriorating. And after eight years of national policy-making wholly dominated by the idea of a "sound dollar," the dollar is alarmingly weak on the international exchanges, and the American economy itself is stagnant or worse.

In sum, the estate that Kennedy will inherit shows a somber balance sheet. Furthermore, the fault does not lie with Ambassador A's follies in country B; the balance is not so bad because Secretary X unwisely insisted on policy Y. The trouble goes deeper than that.

The trouble is that the vast struggle for the world continuously demands the utmost in American vigor and imagination and national power. We cannot duck out of or elude that struggle, anymore than Britain was able to duck out of or elude the struggle with Hitler in the thirties.

The struggle is not of our making; it is inescapable and survival depends upon the outcome. And we have lost so much ground in this struggle in these last years because we have been comfortable rather than vigorous, conservative rather than imaginative, and because these attitudes have led to grave neglect of the world power balance.

This progressive, generalized loss of ground has not yet reached the kind of point-of-no-return that was reached, in the thirties, at Munich. By a great effort, which may demand considerable sacrifice, much of the lost ground may yet be regained. It is clear that Kennedy senses the need for such an effort. It was the whole theme of his campaign.

But Kennedy's specific ideas of how the effort ought to be made have not yet been revealed. And above all, it remains to be seen how the country will respond, when suddenly acquainted with the true state of the national balance sheet.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

MEAT — Housewives can look forward to more meat at cheaper prices next year. Agriculture experts in Washington freely predict this will be so because of large feed supplies at low prices which are now available to cattle and hog processors.

Big feed supplies induce farmers to raise more livestock. Low prices of feed grains induce them to convert them into meat through livestock feeding.

Soybean meal, a key protein, is selling for $45 a ton, $15 under the level a year ago. The price of corn is the lowest in 17 years. Oats are down.

These factors are expected to increase marketings of grain-fattened cattle by four per cent next year. One forecast in the other direction: the number of egg-laying chickens will shrink.

INAUGURATION — Inauguration plans for the new President, January 20, are moving rapidly ahead, but there are some esthetic difficulties. For one, the newly-painted Capitol dome, now an off-white, doesn't match the pure white facade of the new East Front. The colors are a shade apart.

The problem has to do with the bluish cast of the marble on the East Front. Most of the Capitol building blends with the dome nicely, as the stone has had many years to weather and soften in hue.

When the dome is viewed from the west, north or south, it blends perfectly with the building. Over the years, the East front, too, will gradually come into blend.

Anyway, most eyes will be focused on the man with his hand on the Bible. It is doubtful that the Inauguration will be considered a failure because of the clashing colors.

Pearson Sees Increasing Tendency Toward 'One-Party Press' In U.S.

By Drew Pearson

Washington, D. C.

Dear Joe,

This letter should reach you around Thanksgiving Day — When you and your brothers and your mother will be sitting down to a good turkey dinner. I know you will be thankful for that dinner. And I hope you will also remember to be thankful that you have a home to eat it in, and such nice big brothers to play with, even if they do boss you around sometimes.

Remember that there are lots of other little boys in the world who don't have any brothers, or any home or any family at all.

We have some other things to be grateful for in this country which you won't entirely understand until you get a little older—the great freedoms we enjoy. We have our early ancestors to thank for these freedoms — which include freedom of religion, freedom of speech, and freedom of the press.

One of your ancestors, your great-great-grandfather, Joseph Medill, for whom you were named, was founder of the Chicago Tribune, while an uncle for whom you were also named, Joseph Patterson, was an editor of the Chicago Tribune and later founded the New York Daily News. So you come from a family which knows something about a free press.

Joseph Medill, a Republican, was a friend of Abraham Lincoln and helped to put him in the White House, while your uncle, Joe Patterson helped put Franklin Roosevelt in the White House. They represented the vigorous, sometimes vitriolic days of journalism, when there were many newspapers competing against each other, and when Americans who didn't like what they read in one newspaper could turn to another. Your Uncle Joe Patterson even started a brand new paper in New York, when that city already had five or six papers, and built the News up until it had the biggest circulation in the entire United States.

Your relatives went in for investigative, crusading reporting, and your great-great-grandfather Medill broke with his friend Abraham Lincoln over some of the mistakes of the Civil War, while your Uncle Joe Patterson broke with his friend President Roosevelt over some of the policies of the New Deal.

Death Toll Of Papers

In recent years there have become fewer and fewer newspapers. One of them quit publishing in Detroit only recently. So by the time you're grown up you may find that in most American cities there will be only one, or at the most two newspapers.

And as newspapers become a monopoly they tend, unless their editors are very alert and their publishers very wise, to lose their old crusading spirit and the vigor of competition which in the past helped to keep this country on its toes. Because it was very small newspapers, carrying no advertising, which spurred the country to great new freedoms in 1776. Those papers were so disagreeable, so courageous, and the British considered them so scurrilous, that a special clause was inserted in the new Constitution to protect freedom of the press.

In the last six American elections, beginning with President Roosevelt's third-term election in 1940, the great majority of American newspapers have lined up behind one political party—the Republican Party.

There was no danger from this when you had many competing newspapers and the reader could take his choice. But with fewer newspapers and more monopoly newspapers cities, we run the risk of getting the same kind of one-party press that we criticize in Russia.

Quite recently I wrote a story about a loan which Vice President Nixon's brother received from a big industrialist, Howard Hughes. It was not unlike a loan which Elliott Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, received from John Hartford, head of the A&P Stores. And although most newspapers were severly critical of Elliott Roosevelt's loan, some of these same newspapers were critical of me for revealing a similar loan to Nixon's brother.

Most of them played up the denial of my story, rather than the facts in the story, even though the denial proved to be completely untrue.

On the other hand, some editors published the story with complete impartiality, and some even got irritated because they did not receive the story in time for prompt publication.

And some editors, I learned afterward, wanted to publish the story but were restrained by their publishers who had forgotten that it was disrespectful little papers which needled the nation and won new freedoms in 1776.

Some politicians accused me of trying to smear Mr. Nixon by publishing this story during the last two weeks of the election. However it takes long hours and days of work to dig out some of these carefully concealed transactions. It took three months to dig out the fact that the right-hand man to President Eisenhower, Sherman Adams, had been receiving favors from a New England wool manufacturer. And it took a long time to dig out the facts about the mink coats and deep freezers of Mr. Truman's cronies. Some people called those smears too

And what I am afraid of is that young newspapermen, working for complacent publishers in monopoly cities, seeing that their publishers don't want people in high places embarrassed, will lose the old energy and investigative vigor of the relatives for whom you were named and of the "scurrilous" editors who pioneered our first freedoms If that time ever comes, then we will gradually erode those freedoms and gradually fulfill Mr. K's boast that our grandchildren will live under Communism.

Remember that if you ever decide to become a newspaperman.

With Love,
Your Grandfather

By John Crosby

The administration of a modern city requires two things—vision and money. Few cities have either; none has both. The biggest municipal problem in the world today is the metropolitan district which plagues not only our own country but every industrial society — London in England, Tokyo in Japan, Paris in France, and New York and many other cities in this country.

In each of these cities huge population complexes spill out over immensely confusing and overlapping governmental units, all archaic. The New York complex alone comprises 14,000,000 people who spill out over three states (New York, New Jerey, and Connecticut), counties, boroughs, districts, municipalities — each with its own jealously guarded slice of sovereignty.

Now the most impractical man in the world is the practical man who says that nothing can be done about it and who perishes in his own practicality. (Probably get caught in a traffic jam in 1982 and die of starvation trying to get to work). So, let us abandon the practical man to his practicality and be, for a moment, visionary.

The ideal city is one that proudly and jealously guards its past, lives decently and comfortably in its present, and fearlessly and intelligently plans its future. No city does all these things completely. Still, Paris does pretty well. So does Copenhagen. London is engulfed occasionally by its hugeness and population, but it is still a lovely and gracious city. London, incidentally, is the classic refutation of those who will tell you it's too late to do anything. London was "too late" to be rescued in 1700 when Sir Christopher Wren's master plan to rebuild the city after the great fire of 1666 was largely ignored. It was "too late" to rescue London through the middle of the nineteenth century when it was a wretched, squalid, hideous collection of slums which Dickens railed at. And, in spite of all this too lateness, London emerged in the early twentieth century as one of the most beautiful and charming cities in the Western world. It's never too late.

Now, sir, New York. No civilized city in the world desecrates its past so constantly and so contemptuously as New York. No other great city allows lunatics like William Zeckendorf to run loose, tear down huge blocks of buildings, run out of money, and leave a hole in the ground. No other city would let its great monuments — Carnegie Hall (rescued by one man), the Metropolitan Opera House, Penn Station, Grand Central Station, the Plaza Hotel — all of them doomed or threatened (except Carnegie Hall which recently was) to go under the hammer of any real estate speculator with money or (in Zeckendorf's case) credit.

What New York most urgently needs is a beaux arts commission which is empowered to designate its great and beautiful buildings, whether they are in private or public hands, as belonging to the ages, and therefore to be preserved for the spiritual nourishment and esthetic enrichment of the whole city. In France, if you own a Mansard house, you cannot alter any of its exterior without permission which is almost impossible to get. France almost bankrupts itself maintaining public buildings, but it also keeps close watch on private edifices which are part of its cultural heritage. In New Orleans, the French Quarter is mostly in private hands but you cannot even paint the shutters except the color the beaux arts commission designates and you can't change any part of the exterior without permission which you won't get. These dwellings are considered the property of everyone no matter who owns them or who lives in them.

No other civilized city would allow a landmark like the Rhinelander house on Washington Square to be sacrificed to a hideous modern apartment in order to squeeze a little more money out of the land. Beautiful buildings are never obsolete. Modern apartment buildings are obsolescent almost before they are finished. In order to halt this barbarism we need a beaux arts commission, staffed by intelligent and fearless individuals and not, for God's sake, overrun by architects. (Architects are generally pleasant fellows, who know a lot about history, art, sociology, mathematics, engineering, and also the price cement and pipe. The one thing they know very little about is architecture and you must watch them closely when building is discussed because that isn't their dish of tea at all.)

Most of the ravages in New York and elsewhere are caused by the tax structure. This is a worldwide problem. Municipal revenues the world over are inadequate because they are almost all based on real estate taxes. These are monstrously unwise for two reasons: first, they don't provide nearly enough money; second, and to me most important, they tear the guts out of a city in the ever increasing pressure to produce more and more revenue from a foot of land.

Thus, we destroy our past, create a huge economic problem, traffic problem, housing problem, and parking problem for our future, all to live marginally and increasingly uncomfortably in the present. This is absolute lunacy.

Every great city must harmonize its past, its present, and its future, or it will become—as I think our great cities in fifty years will become—almost uninhabitable.

Things To Think About On Thanksgiving Day

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It might be well this year to forget our purchasable benefits and be thankful for our less tangible assets. Our family, integrity, health, courage, and good name are the true blessings that bring real enjoyment and satisfaction. Traditionally, this has been our way of life.

The world is getting smaller and, with each passing year, new crises and problems arise. Let us be grateful that we have survived.

The cold war is an anxiety producer and we must remain strong to back up our convictions. Prosperity is desirable but it tends to corrode mans mind. A purly financial goal is foolish when it robs us of integrity and morality. There are signs that the uncertainty of the future are getting us down. More and more we realize the wisdom of the statement, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

The United States of America never will be conquered from without but it could happen from within. We must watch for that internal decay that begins in those who worship the golden calf and have grown complacement and lazy by feeding on the fatted calf. These people are willing to risk their neighbor's neck to preserve their own nest egg.

A man can lose his tangible assets overnight but not his religion, integrity, honor, loyality, and courage. These are the characteristics that mean something when the enemy is breathing down our neck.

These traits also allow a man to think and to reason. They are the basic ingredients of good mental health which in turn brings satisfaction and the ability to face the world with confidence. We can be thankful that so many Americans live in this moral climate.

SPLAY FOOTED

B. R. writes: Should anything be done about a Charlie Chaplin walk in a 1 year old?

REPLY

Most children are just learning to walk at this time and the majority keep the feet apart to maintain balance. Walking with the toes out is a variation, but if it continues, a small wedge on the bottom of each shoe will encourage turning in of the feet.

BUNION IS BURSITIS

G. L. writes: Can bursitis develope around bunions?

REPLY

THYROID ACTIVITY

R. R. writes: Could a minus 15 metabolism account for overweight?

REPLY

Yes, provided other signs of low thyroid activity are present. Minus 15 is a borderline reading.

KNEE CROSSING

J. L. writes: Isn't sitting with the knees crossed hard on the circulation?

REPLY

Yes, depending upon how the knees are crossed. It is possible to press on the nerves and blood vessels located behind the knee, producing numbness and tingling of the lower legs.

LIFE CHANGES

Mrs. B. writes: What are the most common things that go wrong during the menopause?

REPLY

Loneliness when the children go away to school or get married, hot flashes that come on when least expected, and the realization that you are not as young as you were.

BRUSHING AND BALDING

H. H. writes: If the hair is falling out fast, will the use of a hair brush hasten the loss?

REPLY

Yes, if the bristles are hard and brushing is vigorous.

MAN BITES MAN

T. K. writes: What kind of tests are made on a man who bites another person?

REPLY

Mental tests. Human bites are serious because the mouth is a hotbed of lethal micro-organisms.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A Park Avenue psychoanalyst was driving peacefully on the N. Y. Thruway when a speed maniac rammed him from behind. The analyst leapt from his car waving his fist and screaming, "You idiot! You numskull! You rat!" Then, suddenly, he remembered his profession, and added, Now tell me why you hate your mother."

There is no reason for a banquet chairman to writhe when a speaker pulls a boner or says something way out of line. As the late William Collier used to point out when he was acting as toastmaster, "It's my job only to introduce the speakers: not guarantee them!"

A big movie star, handsome, dashing—and dumb, was accorded a reception in Japan. Suddenly

called upon to speak, with not a ghost writer within hailing distance, the big star floundered, "Er, hello out there! Er—I want to tell you that your flu has caught on real big in the U.S.A.!"

Bali Village, Thanks To UNICEF, Replaces Witchcraft With Modern Medicine

TENGANAN, Bali (UPI) —This ancient Balinese village, which has resisted change and preserved its own special way of life for 700 years, is giving in to modern medicine.

But Tenganan, which often is called the most original village on this famous vacation isle, is only giving a little at a time and it has taken the United Nations to accomplish that.

Tradition dies hard throughout all Indonesia, but hardest of all in some of the proud villages on this island. Tenganan's tradition, according to village chieftain Nengen Tembuh, goes back to the days of the rule of the Raja (king) of Djata Pangus in Bali. That was 700 years ago.

According to legend, Tembuh related, the kings' favorite horse ran away and was found dead in an uninhabited, but fertile, valley.

As a token of his affection, the king decreed that a village be built in the fertile valley and the people could settle the rich land as far as the smell of the horse extended. The settlers secretly cut up the horse and scattered the pieces throughout the valley.

The king gave them the entire valley but decreed that ownership of the land must never go out of the village, instituting a form of communal living that has persisted until today. Rice and other products still are distributed equally and the surplus placed in the community granary.

The villagers have unique communal marriage customs because of the property inheritance laws that have evolved out of the kings' decree. Women from outside may marry into the village but cannot inherit property. Girls in the village lose their property rights if they marry outsiders. As a result, marriage among close relatives is common.

These are not the only ancient customs the villagers have clung to. They have continued, until only recently, to depend upon herb medicine and witchcraft to cure the sick. As a result the village is little larger today than it was 700 years ago. Village Chieftain Tambud said the village had 300 settlers at the start and now has only 400 residents.

"Perhaps our gods have willed it this way," he said.

But officials of the United Nations Childrens' Fund (UNICEF) thought otherwise and, in cooperation with the Indonesian government, the villagers were persuaded to accept a medical clinic equipped by UNICEF.

"In spite of all the obvious distinctions," said a UNICEF report, "the sad fact remains that tradition-bound Tenganan is isolated, stangnant and full of disease. . .the infant death rate is high. Many young people are leaving the village."

But the report said the clinic, unwelcome at first, is making progress.

"Gradually a few yielded to the temptation of the new," the UNICEF report said.

Thanksgiving Observed Here In 1704

The designation of Thanksgiving as a federal holiday is less than 100 years old, but the day itself has been observed since the founding fathers landed on these shores.

The first national proclamation was issued by President Lincoln in 1863, although the first Thanksgiving was observed the year after the Pilgrims landed.

In general, all the original states set apart a day to thank God for the mercies of the preceding year, with the New England colonists designating the day at their own discretion.

Since Lincoln's proclamation Thanksgiving has been on the last Thursday of November, with the exception of several years when President Franklin Delano Roosevelt called for the observance to be celebrated a week earlier.

During the early years of the nation, when the cause for giving thanks was of more regard than the season, the colonists observed Thanksgiving Day both earlier and later than at present.

For instance, Maryland's first public Thanksgiving occurred on August 17, 1704, which also happened to be a Thursday. But the time selected for the occasion seems no more odd than the wording of the proclamation by Gov. Blackiston.

It reads:

"Inasmuch as Divine Providence hath lately visited these parts in a very particular manner by causing a most terrible and dreadful Stroke of Lightning and Tunder to fall upon the State house, the General Assembly sitting there-in, which Fire the Roof thereof highly endangering the Records lodged therein, & not only so, but further visiting our Sins, strook dead Mr. James Crawford, one of the Delegates of Calvert County & grievously wounded and hurt Divers others vis Lieut. Collo. (colonel) Hans Harrison, Lieut. Collo. George Ashman and Mr. Thomas Hicks, but forasmuch it pleased Almighty God of His infinite Mercy far beyond our deserts to withhold and restrain the Violence & Destruction thereof, to the end therefore that Our most sincere and devout acknowledgements of such His Gracious mercy may be duly rendered.

"I do by and with the advice of His Majesty's hon'ble Council, proclaim public and Command all and singular his Majesty's good Subjects the Inhabitants of this Prov. that they religiously set apart and observe Thursday the 17th day of August next ensuing as a day of Thanksgiving for such Great mercy of Almighty God in vouchsafing so signal a Deliverance.

"God save the king."

N. Blackiston.

Byrd Urges Buying Surplus Foods Now

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Agriculture was asked Tuesday to buy up additional surplus foodstuffs for distribution this winter to the nation's needy.

The request was made by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., who said such things as beef products, beans and butter should be purchased now while the cost is low and they are plentiful.

Byrd said the Commodity Credit Corp. had been unsuccessful in attempts to dispose of some of a large inventory of butter.

Aluminum Tonnage Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Primary aluminum production in the nation totaled 167,015 short tons in October, compared with 162,882 in September and 173,742 in the similar 1959 period, The Aluminum Association reported.

Production for the year-to-date totaled 1,687,787 tons compared with 1,636,357 in the comparable 1959 period.

THE EARL NIGHTINGALE PROGRAM "OUR CHANGING WORLD"

THEY MARRY IN HASTE

Y'know . . . you're always hearing the men make the jokes about marriage . . . and how they've fallen victim to the tender trap. But it's been my impression that it's the women who frequently wind up with the worst of the deal. And it's their own fault, too.

From the time a girl is old enough to play with dolls, marriage is just a natural part of life that she expects and looks forward to. And that's fine. But lately, and really for some time, getting married has been a matter of female conformity. A girl gets to be eighteen or nineteen, let a couple of her girl friends get married, and she suddenly feels like the only woman at the opera without a mink stole. Now, maybe her friends married well, and maybe they didn't — but getting married should never be a way of keeping up with the other girls. Getting married should never be more important . . . than the man you marry.

Lately it seems to the girls that getting married is sort of like joining a club . . . who you marry isn't important . . . it's getting the ring and the license that's the big thing. And right here is one of the worst tragedies that could befall a well-meaning but misinformed young lady.

Grabbing the first guy who comes along is a lot like grabbing the first bus that comes along without knowing where it's going; it's liable to take you to the last place in the world you'd like to go. If he really is the right man, a year's cooling off period can only make you both that much surer. If he's not the right one, a year or so is enough time to uncover some of his more glaring faults. Who knows? He might be a real nut or something . . . or with no more ambition than a hobo. Young women seem to think that if they reach their twenty-first birthday without being married, spinsterhood is crowding in on them. Yet statistics prove that men find women most attractive between the age of thirty-five and forty-five. A lot of women might find this hard to understand, but mature men don't.

I'm not saying that women should necessarily wait until they're thirty-five to get married, but they shouldn't get nervous about it if they find themselves still single when they're twenty-five or thirty. It's sure a lot better to wait until you find the right man . . . than spend years watching the good ones getting snapped up while you're stuck with the wrong one.

Y'know . . . falling in love is a geographical thing. The guy that seems to make your knees turn to water and your heart skip a beat in San Francisco . . . would be a completely different person if you lived in Newark. Have you ever given much thought to this? They're always writing songs and talking about the one and only. The one and only they're talking about is the man in your neck of the woods who attracts you and is attracted by you. It would be the same no matter where you lived — you'd still meet the so-called "only" man in the world for you. Girls from Albuquerque marry guys from Albuquerque, unless they happen to meet someone traveling through, and girls from Buffalo, marry Buffalo men.

So if you want to figure out how many guys in the country might qualify as being the one man you'd be willing to spend the rest of your life with . . . get out a map of the United States and count the towns . . . there's probably one in each. What makes a man and his wife so precious to each other are the years of working and crises and joys and loving that go with a good marriage; then they really become the one person in the world you want to be married to. But succeeding in marriage is sort of like succeeding in business — make sure you're qualified and then spend a great deal of time with a person before you enter into a legal partnership — because once you do, it's pretty final.

But lately, and really for some time, getting married has been a matter of female conformity. A girl gets to be eighteen or nineteen, let a couple of her girl friends get married, and she suddenly feels like the only woman at the opera without a mink stole. Now, maybe her friends married well, and maybe they didn't — but getting married should never be a way of keeping up with the other girls. Getting married should never be more important . . . than the man you marry.

Lately it seems to the girls that getting married is sort of like joining a club . . . who you marry isn't important . . . it's getting the ring and the license that's the big thing. And right here is one of the worst tragedies that could befall a well-meaning but misinformed young lady.

Grabbing the first guy who comes along is a lot like grabbing the first bus that comes along without knowing where it's going; it's liable to take you to the last place in the world you'd like to go. If he really is the right man, a year's cooling off period can only make you both that much surer. If he's not the right one, a year or so is enough time to uncover some of his more glaring faults. Who knows? He might be a real nut or something . . . or with no more ambition than a hobo. Young women seem to think that if they reach their twenty-first birthday without being married, spinsterhood is crowding in on them. Yet statistics prove that men find women most attractive between the age of thirty-five and forty-five. A lot of women might find this hard to understand, but mature men don't.

I'm not saying that women should necessarily wait until they're thirty-five to get married, but they shouldn't get nervous about it if they find themselves still single when they're twenty-five or thirty. It's sure a lot better to wait until you find the right man . . . than spend years watching the good ones getting snapped up while you're stuck with the wrong one.

Y'know . . . falling in love is a geographical thing. The guy that seems to make your knees turn to water and your heart skip a beat in San Francisco . . . would be a completely different person if you lived in Newark. Have you ever given much thought to this? They're always writing songs and talking about the one and only. The one and only they're talking about is the man in your neck of the woods who attracts you and is attracted by you. It would be the same no matter where you lived — you'd still meet the so-called "only" man in the world for you. Girls from Albuquerque marry guys from Albuquerque, unless they happen to meet someone traveling through, and girls from Buffalo, marry Buffalo men.

So if you want to figure out how many guys in the country might qualify as being the one man you'd be willing to spend the rest of your life with . . . get out a map of the United States and count the towns . . . there's probably one in each. What makes a man and his wife so precious to each other are the years of working and crises and joys and loving that go with a good marriage; then they really become the one person in the world you want to be married to. But succeeding in marriage is sort of like succeeding in business — make sure you're qualified and then spend a great deal of time with a person before you enter into a legal partnership — because once you do, it's pretty final.

TOURIST TRADE DROPS

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — The recent racial disturbances in Southern Rodesia have cost the colony millions of pounds in the tourist trade, according to J.W. Brinsley, director of the Salisbury and District Publicity Association.

Brinsley said that in August of last year nearly 3,000 tourists visited his bureau. "Following the July rioting this year the August figure was only 1,600. In September last year we had 2,627 visitors, but this year the September figure was only 1,400."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Not since the Pilgrims had that first Thanksgiving have we in Free America had so much to be thankful for, with our right to think and worship as we wish. No matter what religion, everyone should get down on his knees and thank God for these blessings.

This is a day for families, and while the old Thanksgiving of "off to grandmother's house we go" for turkey and pumpkin pie, belongs to yesterday, we still eat our turkey with our families. Even the younger generation, who are sometimes difficult to understand, set aside this day to spend with mom and pop and sisters and brothers.

I wish each and every one of my readers a blessed and happy Thanksgiving.

The scenes of "Cleopatra" set on the warm shores of the Nile were being filmed outdoors in cold, damp England until the company shut down. Elizabeth Taylor who, according to her personal physician, Dr. Rex Kennamer, is making rapid strides toward good health, would have found it difficult to weather these conditions even in the pink of health.

Someone else told me it was so cold you could see the horses' breath. Spyrous Skouras, who has had more than his share of trouble with this movie, is in London and will give a decision soon on whether to continue with the picture—or postpone it indefinitely.

After grabbing John Saxon back on his home lot after a year of loanouts, Universal-International is letting its prize package go out again to star in "War Hunt" for United Artists. The main reason is there is nothing immediately ready for John at U-I, so why keep him cooling his heels when he has his first solo starring part in the offing.

"War Hunt" is a drama of a GI in Korea and starts right away with Denis and Terry Saunders (the young men who discovered George Hamilton) producing. Although young Saxon has done many good things it's always struck me as ironic that the role in which he proved himself as a top actor in "The Unforgiven" was practically lost on the cutting room floor. But not before the casting directors saw it.

Carole Costello, 21 - year - old daughter of the late Lou Costello, was quietly married Sept. 6 in the chapel of the New Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, to Timothy Koester, flight instructor at Van Nuys Airport.

Carole told me that she is continuing with her singing lessons. "Tommy Oliver, who did all the arrangements for Joni Sommers," she said, "is arranging my music. I am going to work in earnest."

She said she thought her father and mother would approve of her 24 - year - old bridegroom. Here's wishing her happiness this Thanksgiving Day.

He tells me she is the sweetest, loveliest girl he's ever met. We all know that, and now it's up to Bobby to take good care of Sandra, who is young even for her 18 years.

The engagement was a surprise to her mother, but Bobby is level-headed and knows where he's going, and a nice boy. It's difficult not to be spoiled with the adulation he has received, but Bobby is hard working and like Sandra, is career minded.

When I was in New York, Larry Finley came to see me to tell me about a deal he was negotiating with Al Bloomingdale, chairman of the board, and Robert Blythe, president of Tops Records. Well, Larry's back, and now he tells me the deal has been set, and he's been appointed vice president in charge of operations of all Tops records, their subsidiaries, and precision radiation instruments.

This means that Larry, who is Mr. TV and Radio himself, is giving up these activities with the exception of his Sunday night TV show "Music Is My Beat." I'm glad he's not giving that up.

Teen-Age Canteen Urged By Moorefield Students

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The Moorefield Community Club Council met Monday night at the Hardy County Public Library and heard representatives of the Moorefield High School Student Council explain their plan for a 'teen age canteen during the holidays at the Moorefield fire hall.

The Student Council agreed to assume full responsibility, to provide chaperones and to take care of the meeting hall if an agreement could be reached with the firemen. Jane Hamrick acted as spokesman for the students.

Plans by the community council for the Christmas tree were continued pending a meeting of the Moorefield Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol whose members will [illegible] and place the decorations on the streets. It is [illegible] every member club in the Community Council will purchase at least one string of lights for the tree.

L. L. McConnell, president of the group, stated that legal council was being secured to investigate the formation of a cemetery corporation to operate Olivet Cemetery. A meeting of interested people will be called as soon as plans are complete.

Age Clarified

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The state attorney general's office said Tuesday that state code setting the age range of West Virginia conservation offices at 21 to 40 means that a person is not eligible for appointment upon reaching age 40. Conservation Director Warden Lane asked the opinion.

School Board Can Set Age For Entrance

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Supreme Court Tuesday upheld the authority of the State Board of Education to establish a public school age entrance requirement.

In a unanimous 5-0 opinion written by Judge Leslie E. Given, the high court ruled against Mr. and Mrs. John L. Detch of Lewisburg in a test case.

The Board of Education put into effect this year a regulation which stipulates that a child must be 6 prior to Nov. 1 to be admitted to the first grade in West Virginia's public schools. This policy also is followed by the state's parochial schools.

The Detch couple, whose daughter was 6 Nov. 3, sought to compel the board to permit the child to enter the first grade in Greenbrier County.

They contended it was the legislature's intention in setting up general age minimums and maximums many years ago to allow a child to enter school if he became 6 anytime during the term—or at least on the date he reached that age.

Given's opinion curtly dismissed this argument. It said the "possible evil effects" of strictly following this interpretation "would seem apparent."

The result, said Given, "would be, in effect, to require each school to enroll any youth who reaches the age of 6 years on any date during a particular school term for the remainder of such term, whether the remainder be a few days or 9 months less a few days."

In general, the court held, the state board has authority to set educational policies of West Virginia public schools and that unless the board's actions appear to be unreasonable or arbitrary, they will not be disturbed by the courts.

In the school age case, the court made it clear it felt the ruling is reasonable and valid.

Beall Students Give Thanksgiving Baskets

Officers of Beall High School Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs display a small number of the total of 2300 cans of food collected this past week as a part of the annual "Happy Thanksgiving" drive. The two groups enlisted the aid of the entire student body which, according to the faculty advisors Mrs. Maurice Treacy and Russell Fitzgerald, "cooperated beyond all expectations and have made it a reality for many families to have a happy Thanksgiving." Shown above (kneeling) are Donald Zarefoss, president, Clarence Sweene, co-chairman of the drive, and Paul Barry, vice president, all of the Hi-Y. Standing are officers of the Tri-Hi-Y, Linda Ryan, vice president, Sandra Willetts, president, and Judith Carter, co-chairman of the drive. Approximately 65 baskets were packed with the foodstuffs and were distributed Wednesday through the Frostburg office of the United Family Service of the County United Fund.

Lions District Governor Visits Moorefield Club

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—William J. Loy, Elkins, district governor for Lions International for District 29-I, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club at Hotel McNiell Monday night on the status of Lionism in the world. Loy said that Lions clubs make up the largest civic organization in the world with 613,000 members in over 15,000 clubs and in 42 countries. He said members are dedicated to service for their communities and nation.

He said that as an indication of the international flavor of Lions, the first Lions club in Japan was sponsored by the Manila, P. I. Lions Club representing members who had been at war with the Japanese only a few short years before. Loy said that there are 180 clubs in Japan at present. The district governor said projects completed by the Lions clubs in various communities totaled more than $100,000,000 in the past year and the chief charities are with the blind.

Roy Hamilton, president of the Moorefield group, announced that members will sell fruit cakes again this year as well as Blenko glass fruit and salad bowls. Orvon R. Bean was designated as agent.

The report for Valley TV Cooperative on the translator site at Branch Mountain was made. Both channels are in operation and reception perfect.

Moorefield Valley's New UHF-TV Is In Operation

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Valley TV Cooperative's two translators went into operation this week and is broadcasting on UHF Channel 80 and 70 from the site on top of Branch Mountain.

Charles Kuykendall, manager of the cooperative, stated the signals are coming through clear and that reception is perfect. Some sets are not aligned as yet and there is interference from the radio operated by West Virginia State Police. This interference caused the image to fade on the screen. The interference will be corrected as soon as the engineers complete testing. A slight adjustment in the broadcasting antenna for Channel 70 will also improve the signal for some Moorefield sets.

Channel 80 is translating Channel 6 from Johnstown and Channel 70 is translating Channel 9 from Washington. Set owners may continue to receive Channel 3 on conventional VHF from Harrisonburg.

All TV dealers and servicemen have been busy installing converters for the new service to the South Branch Valley area. Installations are being made only to the members of the non-profit cooperative. Additional members are needed and those who have pledged the $50 membership fee are requested to send their money in immediately.

If sufficient members can be acquired more channels can be installed, and present facilities will accommodate the additional equipment. The non-profit cooperative was endorsed by all the civic groups in the community as a service needed in the valley.

Makes Proclamation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood Tuesday officially proclaimed Thursday as Thanksgiving Day in West Virginia. The governor's proclamation called on state residents to celebrate the day "in the spirit it was founded, giving thanks for the richness of America."

Hurt In Fall

148 Woods Fires Hit West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Conservation Commission Tuesday said 148 forest fires burned 4,300 acres of West Virginia forest land last week.

All but 37 of the fires were in southern part of the state. Since July 1, the commission said, 187 fires have charred 4,434 acres with the loss estimated at $25,000.

Teen-Age Canteen Urged By Moorefield Students

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The Moorefield Community Club Council met Monday night at the Hardy County Public Library and heard representatives of the Moorefield High School Student Council explain their plan for a 'teen age canteen during the holidays at the Moorefield fire hall.

The Student Council agreed to assume full responsibility, to provide chaperones and to take care of the meeting hall if an agreement could be reached with the firemen. Jane Hamrick acted as spokesman for the students.

Plans by the community council for the Christmas tree were continued pending a meeting of the Moorefield Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol whose members will [illegible] and place the decorations on the streets. It is [illegible] every member club in the Community Council will purchase at least one string of lights for the tree.

L. L. McConnell, president of the group, stated that legal council was being secured to investigate the formation of a cemetery corporation to operate Olivet Cemetery. A meeting of interested people will be called as soon as plans are complete.

Age Clarified

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The state attorney general's office said Tuesday that state code setting the age range of West Virginia conservation offices at 21 to 40 means that a person is not eligible for appointment upon reaching age 40. Conservation Director Warden Lane asked the opinion.

School Board Can Set Age For Entrance

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Supreme Court Tuesday upheld the authority of the State Board of Education to establish a public school age entrance requirement.

In a unanimous 5-0 opinion written by Judge Leslie E. Given, the high court ruled against Mr. and Mrs. John L. Detch of Lewisburg in a test case.

The Board of Education put into effect this year a regulation which stipulates that a child must be 6 prior to Nov. 1 to be admitted to the first grade in West Virginia's public schools. This policy also is followed by the state's parochial schools.

The Detch couple, whose daughter was 6 Nov. 3, sought to compel the board to permit the child to enter the first grade in Greenbrier County.

They contended it was the legislature's intention in setting up general age minimums and maximums many years ago to allow a child to enter school if he became 6 anytime during the term—or at least on the date he reached that age.

Given's opinion curtly dismissed this argument. It said the "possible evil effects" of strictly following this interpretation "would seem apparent."

The result, said Given, "would be, in effect, to require each school to enroll any youth who reaches the age of 6 years on any date during a particular school term for the remainder of such term, whether the remainder be a few days or 9 months less a few days."

In general, the court held, the state board has authority to set educational policies of West Virginia public schools and that unless the board's actions appear to be unreasonable or arbitrary, they will not be disturbed by the courts.

In the school age case, the court made it clear it felt the ruling is reasonable and valid.

Beall Students Give Thanksgiving Baskets

Officers of Beall High School Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs display a small number of the total of 2300 cans of food collected this past week as a part of the annual "Happy Thanksgiving" drive. The two groups enlisted the aid of the entire student body which, according to the faculty advisors Mrs. Maurice Treacy and Russell Fitzgerald, "cooperated beyond all expectations and have made it a reality for many families to have a happy Thanksgiving." Shown above (kneeling) are Donald Zarefoss, president, Clarence Sweene, co-chairman of the drive, and Paul Barry, vice president, all of the Hi-Y. Standing are officers of the Tri-Hi-Y, Linda Ryan, vice president, Sandra Willetts, president, and Judith Carter, co-chairman of the drive. Approximately 65 baskets were packed with the foodstuffs and were distributed Wednesday through the Frostburg office of the United Family Service of the County United Fund.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Valley TV Cooperative's two translators went into operation this week and is broadcasting on UHF Channel 80 and 70 from the site on top of Branch Mountain.

Charles Kuykendall, manager of the cooperative, stated the signals are coming through clear and that reception is perfect. Some sets are not aligned as yet and there is interference from the radio operated by West Virginia State Police. This interference caused the image to fade on the screen. The interference will be corrected as soon as the engineers complete testing. A slight adjustment in the broadcasting antenna for Channel 70 will also improve the signal for some Moorefield sets.

Channel 80 is translating Channel 6 from Johnstown and Channel 70 is translating Channel 9 from Washington. Set owners may continue to receive Channel 3 on conventional VHF from Harrisonburg.

All TV dealers and servicemen have been busy installing converters for the new service to the South Branch Valley area. Installations are being made only to the members of the non-profit cooperative. Additional members are needed and those who have pledged the $50 membership fee are requested to send their money in immediately.

If sufficient members can be acquired more channels can be installed, and present facilities will accommodate the additional equipment. The non-profit cooperative was endorsed by all the civic groups in the community as a service needed in the valley.

Lions District Governor Visits Moorefield Club

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—William J. Loy, Elkins, district governor for Lions International for District 29-I, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club at Hotel McNiell Monday night on the status of Lionism in the world. Loy said that Lions clubs make up the largest civic organization in the world with 613,000 members in over 15,000 clubs and in 42 countries. He said members are dedicated to service for their communities and nation.

He said that as an indication of the international flavor of Lions, the first Lions club in Japan was sponsored by the Manila, P. I. Lions Club representing members who had been at war with the Japanese only a few short years before. Loy said that there are 180 clubs in Japan at present. The district governor said projects completed by the Lions clubs in various communities totaled more than $100,000,000 in the past year and the chief charities are with the blind.

Accompanying the district governor were two members of his cabinet, Frank Jones and Ernest Cooper, both of the Elkins club.

Roy Hamilton, president of the Moorefield group, announced that members will sell fruit cakes again this year as well as Blenko glass fruit and salad bowls. Orvon R. Bean was designated as agent.

The report for Valley TV Cooperative on the translator site at Branch Mountain was made. Both channels are in operation and reception perfect.

Coal Market Moves Away From W.Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Coal Association said Tuesday the western movement of the coal market is hurting the Mountain State.

The association attributed this movement to a greater demand for coal in the north central part of the United States.

"This means," the association said, "that mines closer to customers will have a growing competitive cost edge over those in West Virginia because of cheaper shipping."

An anlaysis based on latest coal consumption figures of the U. S. Bureau of Mines disclosed that although shipments of soft coal increased more than 5 per cent last year, those markets traditionally served by West Virginia showed a much smaller boost.

The association said 1960 production increases have been higher than the Mountain State in all major coal producing states west of West Virginia, except Ohio.

Postmasters Urge Early Dispatch Of Yule Mail

Postmasters of the tri-state area are reminding residents that early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas, which is about four weeks away.

Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in the area, they said.

Speaking for the postmasters, Thomas F. Conlon, local postmaster, advises residents not to take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord.

He also said that if you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from.

Always send Christmas cards by first class mail and be sure to include your return name and address on each card envelope.

Williams Street Curb Painted Red As Safety Factor

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming yesterday announced that the right side of Williams Street, extending from Maryland Avenue to Louisiana Avenue, has been banned to parking.

The action, he explained, was taken after a study by the Police Traffic Bureau indicated such a decision was necessary from the standpoint of safety.

Williams Street is one of the main traffic arteries to Memorial Hospital, and also is used a great deal by Fire Department equipment, Commissioner Fleming said.

Loading and unloading will be permitted for brief periods, the commissioner stated, but a close watch will be maintained to keep flagrant violations at a minimum.

The commissioner also pointed out that parking will be permitted on the opposite side of the street.

The study by the Traffic Bureau was instituted following complaints by ambulance and fire truck drivers of being delayed because of parked cars on both sides of the streets.

The Mountain City school, enjoying its best football year since the sport was revived there in 1946, recently sewed up the Potomac Valley Conference grid championship and goes into the finale with a 5-3 record.

Won Four In Row

Beall has won four straight from the Explorers on Turkey Day and trails in the all-time series, eight games to five with one even.

Jim Manges, former Fort Hill High School gridder, who coached at Beall in 1956 when the Mountaineers won two and lost six, is rounding out his first season as head man of the Explorers who will finish the season in the .500 class for the first time since 1954. LaSalle is 5-4-0 this season which is a big improvement over 1959 when the Explorers finished with one win and nine defeats.

Beall copped P.V.C. honors by trimming Southern, Romney, Moorefield and Keyser. The other win was over Barrackville, W. Va., 35-0. Both Beall and LaSalle were shut out by Fort Hill and Allegany. The Mounties other loss came at the hands of Charles Town's Panthers.

LaSalle lost to Keyser, 19-13, but Beall defeated the Golden Tornado, 20-13. Calhoun's team whipped Moorefield 27-0 and LaSalle defeated the Yellowjackets, 20-0.

Don Bush To Play

Donovan Bush, Beall's high scoring halfback, who has been idled by an ankle injury, has completely recovered and will play today. Bush was the standout star in last year's Turkey Day game in which he scored three touchdowns in Beall's 20-13 victory. The other 16 seniors on the Beall roster are Ronnie Wolford, Jack Stevenson, Dale Hager, Ralph Arnold, Jim Airhart, Coy Chaney, Jim Crowe, John Davis, Jim Elkins, Jim Evans, Bill Twigg, Buv Ward, Larry Taylor, Bill Biggs, Paul Barry and Ray Raley. LaSalle has 12 seniors, namely, Ron Speir, Charles Weisenmiller, Ron Ruppenkamp, Paul Meyers, Ed Melvin, Allen Lueck, Bill Lovett, Ken Fretwell, Mike Clarke, Francis Connelley, Frank Brode and Frank Angellatta.

The game is expected to attract between 1,500 and 2,000 spectators. The opening kickoff is set for 1:30 p. m.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated by the Pilgrims in gratitude to God for an abundant harvest. Today, as never before in this country, we are blessed with an abundance of material goods. But beyond this we have the greater wealth of Freedom — to worship, to think, and to speak as our conscience dictates. We truly have reason to be thankful.

The Mountain City school, enjoying its best football year since the sport was revived there in 1946, recently sewed up the Potomac Valley Conference grid championship and goes into the finale with a 5-3 record.

Won Four In Row

Beall has won four straight from the Explorers on Turkey Day and trails in the all-time series, eight games to five with one even.

Jim Manges, former Fort Hill High School gridder, who coached at Beall in 1956 when the Mountaineers won two and lost six, is rounding out his first season as head man of the Explorers who will finish the season in the .500 class for the first time since 1954. LaSalle is 5-4-0 this season which is a big improvement over 1959 when the Explorers finished with one win and nine defeats.

Beall copped P.V.C. honors by trimming Southern, Romney, Moorefield and Keyser. The other win was over Barrackville, W. Va., 35-0. Both Beall and LaSalle were shut out by Fort Hill and Allegany. The Mounties other loss came at the hands of Charles Town's Panthers.

LaSalle lost to Keyser, 19-13, but Beall defeated the Golden Tornado, 20-13. Calhoun's team whipped Moorefield 27-0 and LaSalle defeated the Yellowjackets, 20-0.

Don Bush To Play

Donovan Bush, Beall's high scoring halfback, who has been idled by an ankle injury, has completely recovered and will play today. Bush was the standout star in last year's Turkey Day game in which he scored three touchdowns in Beall's 20-13 victory. The other 16 seniors on the Beall roster are Ronnie Wolford, Jack Stevenson, Dale Hager, Ralph Arnold, Jim Airhart, Coy Chaney, Jim Crowe, John Davis, Jim Elkins, Jim Evans, Bill Twigg, Buv Ward, Larry Taylor, Bill Biggs, Paul Barry and Ray Raley. LaSalle has 12 seniors, namely, Ron Speir, Charles Weisenmiller, Ron Ruppenkamp, Paul Meyers, Ed Melvin, Allen Lueck, Bill Lovett, Ken Fretwell, Mike Clarke, Francis Connelley, Frank Brode and Frank Angellatta.

The game is expected to attract between 1,500 and 2,000 spectators. The opening kickoff is set for 1:30 p. m.

Undefeated and untied teams—the highest scoring and the least scored against in the tri-state area—will come to grips today when Coach Ed Schwarz's Allegany Campers and Coach Charley Lattimer's Fort Hill Sentinels clash for a double football championship at 1:30 p. m., in the stadium.

The largest turnout to witness a grid contest here since 1948 when approximately 10,000 saw the same schools collide and battle to a 6-6 deadlock is expected to be on hand for the contest that will determine the city and Cumberland Valley Athletic League titles. If it results in a tie the teams will share the honors.

Both schools swing into action in the finale with 9-0 records and they're tied for first place in the C.V.A.L. at 5-0. The Campers will be putting an 11-game winning streak on the line, including the last two games of the 1959 season.

Campers Defend Titles

Allegany occupies the role of defending city champion and defending co-champions of the C.V.A.L., having shared the latter title with Westminster in 1959. A year ago, Allegany defeated Fort Hill by the score of 20-0, thus ending a 13-year old famine during which Fort Hill won eleven times and fought the Campers on even terms in two contests.

Fort Hill enters the big game with the best defensive record for a city team since 1953 when Bill Hahn's Fort Hill team held the opposition to 39 points. The Sentinels have yielded only 25 points in the nine games played to date. Three of the four touchdowns credited to the opposition came via running plays, the other on a pass.

Allegany has amassed a total of 303 points on 45 touchdowns and 31-45 extra points and one safety while its crosstown rival has rolled up 41 six-pointers and 32-41 conversions for 278 points.

38 Seniors On Rosters

Meet 28th Time

Allegany and Fort Hill will be meeting in the 28th game of their series. Fort Hill holds a 14-10 edge in wins with three games even. They met twice in 1944, 1945 and 1946. This is their 25th Thanksgiving Day clash and Fort Hill leads in the holiday classics with 12 wins, 10 losses and two ties.

All-America Team Picked By Coaches

Bellino, Ditka And Davis Named

CHICAGO (UPI) — The East, with three players, dominates the 1960 All-America football team selected Wednesday by the American Football Coaches Association.

Chosen by the ballots of more than 1,500 active coaching members of the association, the 11 players named as the most outstanding at their positions in the nation are:

Center: E. J. Holub, Texas Tech.

Quarterback: Jake Gibbs, Mississippi.

Fullbacks: Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

It marked the first time since the years of World War II when Army dominated All-Star selections, that the East placed more players on the mythical team than any other geographical section of the nation.

The Midwest, South and Southwest were represented by two players each while one player each was selected from the Rockies and the Midlands. Only the Far West was shut out.

Wright And Suggs Lead LPGA Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Wright of San Diego and Louise Suggs of Atlanta dominated the ladies professional golf tour this year, LPGA season-end records showed Wednesday.

Miss Wright won the Vare trophy with a record per-round average of 73.25 strokes in 21 tournaments. Miss Suggs, the runner-up in the Vare competition with a 73.69 average for 21 tournaments, led the money winners with $16,892.12 with Miss Wright in second place with $16,380.03.

Penn, Cornell Clash In 67th Contest Today

VMI Made Favorite Over Virginia Tech

By MARTIN LADER
United Press International

Pride, and the further rehashing of age-old grudges, are the only stakes being offered to holiday crowds on a meager Thanksgiving Day college football program.

Very few of the schools playing Thursday have any chance for a successful season, and for most of them Thursday's game represents a last hope of salvaging something after season-long disappointments.

VMI, on the plus side of the ledger and already assured of the Southern Conference championship, takes on bitter rival Virginia Tech at Roanoke. The Keydets, with a 7-1-1 record, are favored by three points over a Tech squad that has won only five while losing four. The Gobblers lead in this series 31-19 and there have been five ties.

Texas, with consecutive victories over SMU, Baylor and TCU, is an 11-point choice at home over Texas A&M. The Aggies are completing a miserable year in which they have won only one of nine contests with three ties. However, they can take home some pleasant memories by upsetting Texas, which leads in the series, 44-17-5.

The big game of the east presents Pennsylvania and Cornell, who will be battling it out for the 67th time. Penn has won 43 times against 19 victories for Cornel, and there have been four tie games. The big Reds are 2-6 on the year, and Penn has been even more disappointing with a 2-7 slate.

The closest competition brings together Richmond and William & Mary. The two teams have met 68 times, with Richmond holding a 32-31-5 edge. Neither squad has accomplished very much this season, Richmond bringing a 2-6-1 record into the big tussle and William & Mary sporting a 2-7 mark.

In the west, Denver and Colorado State U. grab the Thanksgiving Day spotlight, but once again there is little top class being offered. The two Skyline Conference foes each have 2-7 records and Colorado State U. leads in the series, 29-25-5.

Frostburg State Lists Six Grid Games For 1961

Frostburg State Teachers College will make its football debut in 1961 and has arranged six games for its initial season.

The Bobcats will launch their campaign on Sept. 23 and Elkins College will be played at Elkins Sept. 20.

Bridgewater (Va.) College will be the Bobcats' first home opponent October 14, and the Yellowjackets of Waynesburg, Pa., College will be met in the Mountain City, October 21.

Gallaudet College will be played in Washington, D. C., October 28 and the final game on the schedule is with Potomac State College at Frostburg, November 4.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Advances

BRISBANE, Australia, Wednesday (UPI) — The United States clinched its Davis Cup interzone tennis series with the Philippines today when Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley scored a 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, victory over Johnny Jose and Eddie Dungo in the doubles.

The victory, combined with its two opening — round singles triumphs Tuesday, gave the United States an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series and reduced Thursday's two concluding singles matches to mere exhibitions.

Bears, Lions All Fined For Sunday Fight

Maher, Aveni Are Socked $50 Each

DETROIT (UPI)—A free-swinging brawl, touched off by a sudden skirmish between Detroit's Bruce Maher and Chicago's John Aveni in last Sunday's Bear-Lion game, resulted in sweeping fines being levied against every member of both teams, it was revealed Wednesday.

Detroit Lion President Edwin J. Anderson disclosed that Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, had fined Maher and Aveni $50 each and every other player from both teams $25 each.

The fight broke out in the waning minutes of the game which was won by the Bears, 28-7.

Maher, earlier this week, gave this account of the proceedings: "He (Aveni) twisted my head when I tried to block him. And Coach (George) Wilson tells us to protect ourselves on the field. I was just doing my duty."

Seconds after Maher and Aveni began mixing it up, the gridiron at Wrigley Field in Chicago was transformed into a fist-flying battleground as players from both benches leaped into the fracas.

Approximately 40 per cent of the women listed in Who's Who have never been married.

Hub City Swimmers Defeat "Y" 115-50

The Central YMCA swimming team lost to the Hagerstown YMCA in an exhibition co-ed meet staged at the local pool by the score of 115-50.

The Cumberland swimmers copped seven first places but showed a lack of depth.

Wes Conner was high scorer with 15 points, Jack Slocum was runner-up with 10 tallies and Paul Mazeron finished third with eight. Sally Powers scored five points.

A return meet will be held at Hagerstown in December. Youths interested in swimming competition should contact the YMCA about the open meet November 26.

Forty Niners Test Baltimore Sunday

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Coach Weeb Ewbank and general manager Don Kellett told the Baltimore Colts Wednesday that the San Francisco 49ers, their foe in Baltimore Sunday, won't be any soft touch.

Although the 49ers, in fourth place with a 4-4 record, are no threat to win the title themselves, they could spoil Baltimore's dreams of an unprecedented third straight NFL championship. And Ewbank and Kellett are guarding against complacency.

A year ago, Allegany defeated Fort Hill by the score of 20-0, thus ending a 13-year old famine during which Fort Hill won eleven times and fought the Campers on even terms in two contests.

Fort Hill enters the big game with the best defensive record for a city team since 1953 when Bill Hahn's Fort Hill team held the opposition to 39 points. The Sentinels have yielded only 25 points in the nine games played to date. Three of the four touchdowns credited to the opposition came via running plays, the other on a pass.

Allegany has amassed a total of 303 points on 45 touchdowns and 31-45 extra points and one safety while its crosstown rival has rolled up 41 six-pointers and 32-41 conversions for 278 points.

38 Seniors On Rosters

Meet 28th Time

Allegany and Fort Hill will be meeting in the 28th game of their series. Fort Hill holds a 14-10 edge in wins with three games even. They met twice in 1944, 1945 and 1946. This is their 25th Thanksgiving Day clash and Fort Hill leads in the holiday classics with 12 wins, 10 losses and two ties.

All-America Team Picked By Coaches

Bellino, Ditka And Davis Named

CHICAGO (UPI) — The East, with three players, dominates the 1960 All-America football team selected Wednesday by the American Football Coaches Association.

Chosen by the ballots of more than 1,500 active coaching members of the association, the 11 players named as the most outstanding at their positions in the nation are:

Center: E. J. Holub, Texas Tech.

Quarterback: Jake Gibbs, Mississippi.

Fullbacks: Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

It marked the first time since the years of World War II when Army dominated All-Star selections, that the East placed more players on the mythical team than any other geographical section of the nation.

The Midwest, South and Southwest were represented by two players each while one player each was selected from the Rockies and the Midlands. Only the Far West was shut out.

Wright And Suggs Lead LPGA Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Wright of San Diego and Louise Suggs of Atlanta dominated the ladies professional golf tour this year, LPGA season-end records showed Wednesday.

Miss Wright won the Vare trophy with a record per-round average of 73.25 strokes in 21 tournaments. Miss Suggs, the runner-up in the Vare competition with a 73.69 average for 21 tournaments, led the money winners with $16,892.12 with Miss Wright in second place with $16,380.03.

Penn, Cornell Clash In 67th Contest Today

By MARTIN LADER
United Press International

Pride, and the further rehashing of age-old grudges, are the only stakes being offered to holiday crowds on a meager Thanksgiving Day college football program.

Very few of the schools playing Thursday have any chance for a successful season, and for most of them Thursday's game represents a last hope of salvaging something after season-long disappointments.

VMI, on the plus side of the ledger and already assured of the Southern Conference championship, takes on bitter rival Virginia Tech at Roanoke. The Keydets, with a 7-1-1 record, are favored by three points over a Tech squad that has won only five while losing four. The Gobblers lead in this series 31-19 and there have been five ties.

Texas, with consecutive victories over SMU, Baylor and TCU, is an 11-point choice at home over Texas A&M. The Aggies are completing a miserable year in which they have won only one of nine contests with three ties. However, they can take home some pleasant memories by upsetting Texas, which leads in the series, 44-17-5.

The big game of the east presents Pennsylvania and Cornell, who will be battling it out for the 67th time. Penn has won 43 times against 19 victories for Cornel, and there have been four tie games. The big Reds are 2-6 on the year, and Penn has been even more disappointing with a 2-7 slate.

The closest competition brings together Richmond and William & Mary. The two teams have met 68 times, with Richmond holding a 32-31-5 edge. Neither squad has accomplished very much this season, Richmond bringing a 2-6-1 record into the big tussle and William & Mary sporting a 2-7 mark.

In the west, Denver and Colorado State U. grab the Thanksgiving Day spotlight, but once again there is little top class being offered. The two Skyline Conference foes each have 2-7 records and Colorado State U. leads in the series, 29-25-5.

Frostburg State Lists Six Grid Games For 1961

Frostburg State Teachers College will make its football debut in 1961 and has arranged six games for its initial season.

The Bobcats will launch their campaign on Sept. 23 and Elkins College will be played at Elkins Sept. 20.

Bridgewater (Va.) College will be the Bobcats' first home opponent October 14, and the Yellowjackets of Waynesburg, Pa., College will be met in the Mountain City, October 21.

Gallaudet College will be played in Washington, D. C., October 28 and the final game on the schedule is with Potomac State College at Frostburg, November 4.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Advances

BRISBANE, Australia, Wednesday (UPI) — The United States clinched its Davis Cup interzone tennis series with the Philippines today when Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley scored a 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, victory over Johnny Jose and Eddie Dungo in the doubles.

The victory, combined with its two opening — round singles triumphs Tuesday, gave the United States an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-five series and reduced Thursday's two concluding singles matches to mere exhibitions.

Bears, Lions All Fined For Sunday Fight

Maher, Aveni Are Socked $50 Each

DETROIT (UPI)—A free-swinging brawl, touched off by a sudden skirmish between Detroit's Bruce Maher and Chicago's John Aveni in last Sunday's Bear-Lion game, resulted in sweeping fines being levied against every member of both teams, it was revealed Wednesday.

Detroit Lion President Edwin J. Anderson disclosed that Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, had fined Maher and Aveni $50 each and every other player from both teams $25 each.

The fight broke out in the waning minutes of the game which was won by the Bears, 28-7.

Maher, earlier this week, gave this account of the proceedings:

"He (Aveni) twisted my head when I tried to block him. And Coach (George) Wilson tells us to protect ourselves on the field. I was just doing my duty."

Seconds after Maher and Aveni began mixing it up, the gridiron at Wrigley Field in Chicago was transformed into a fist-flying battleground as players from both benches leaped into the fracas.

Hub City Swimmers Defeat "Y" 115-50

The Central YMCA swimming team lost to the Hagerstown YMCA in an exhibition co-ed meet staged at the local pool by the score of 115-50.

The Cumberland swimmers copped seven first places but showed a lack of depth.

Wes Conner was high scorer with 15 points, Jack Slocum was runner-up with 10 tallies and Paul Mazeron finished third with eight. Sally Powers scored five points.

A return meet will be held at Hagerstown in December. Youths interested in swimming competition should contact the YMCA about the open meet November 26.

Forty Niners Test Baltimore Sunday

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Coach Weeb Ewbank and general manager Don Kellett told the Baltimore Colts Wednesday that the San Francisco 49ers, their foe in Baltimore Sunday, won't be any soft touch.

Although the 49ers, in fourth place with a 4-4 record, are no threat to win the title themselves, they could spoil Baltimore's dreams of an unprecedented third straight NFL championship. And Ewbank and Kellett are guarding against complacency.

Stiffer Penalties Proposed For State Game Law Violators

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission says it has under consideration a proposal to revoke licenses of hunters who violate certain game laws.

Director Ernest Vaughn said the commission also is studying the possibility of increasing the penalties for some violations, possibly making jail sentences mandatory.

Vaughn said a complete penalty program is expected to be outlined before the 1961 legislature opens in January. He said the commission already has been promised some legislative support.

Commission members feel strongly about such offenses as commercialization of any type of game, exceeding bag limits, hunting in closed seasons or at night, and taking illegal deer.

Detroit Plays Packers Today

DETROIT (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers, struggling to stay alive in the Western Division title chase, invade Briggs Stadium on Thursday for their annual Thanksgiving Day clash with the Detroit Lions.

The Packer-Lion feast is the only National Football League battle on Thursday's slate. It will be televised nationally (CBS) beginning at noon (EST). Five other NFL games are scheduled for Sunday.

Stiffer Penalties Proposed For State Game Law Violators

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission says it has under consideration a proposal to revoke licenses of hunters who violate certain game laws.

Director Ernest Vaughn said the commission also is studying the possibility of increasing the penalties for some violations, possibly making jail sentences mandatory.

Vaughn said a complete penalty program is expected to be outlined before the 1961 legislature opens in January. He said the commission already has been promised some legislative support.

Commission members feel strongly about such offenses as commercialization of any type of game, exceeding bag limits, hunting in closed seasons or at night, and taking illegal deer.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Little Things . . . For Thanksgiving

The big things will be counted out aloud on Thanksgiving Day. Things like peace, prosperity, life and health, home and love and family and friends to share them.

But you, lovely lady, might also breathe a private prayer of thanks for a long list of little things, all the remarkable inventions and developments of the past half-century that combine to make today's woman more attractive than her handsomest ancestor. Never before in history has it been so easy and so inexpensive to be perfectly groomed and as pretty as possible.

Think of all the basic devices of which you have a fingertip command . . . that your grandmother didn't have at all. A ready and steady supply of hot water, for example . . . and the tub, shower and washer to go with it, so that both you and your clothing can be fresh and sweet-smelling at all times.

Think of the variety of soaps and detergents available to you, each one gauged to specific needs, even to luxury considerations labeled "skin-type" or "non-allergenic" or "deodorant." All Grandma hoped to do with soap was cut the dirt. (And, oh, how her skin burned! Have you ever used a cake of homemade soap?)

Your creams, your oils and lotions, your powders, sprays, sachets and fragrances are yesterday's dreams come true. In fact, all the improvements in their blending have revolutionized society's attitude toward makeup. Today's makeup, while colorful enough to be fun, is meant to look NATURAL. And correctly applied, it does. So nobody objects at all any more when you give nature a helping hand.

Grandma may have daydreamed, daringly, of smoothing or hinding premature dryness and wrinkles, of brightening up her plain, pale features. But, how could she, without looking like a "painted woman"? That's just what makeup looked like then. Paint and plaster, gooey and garish. So, Grandma floured her nose and pinched her cheeks . . . and SHE gave thanks for soft gas lighting or candle-glow.

How about the breaks you've received in fashions? Remember how Grandma had to be constricted and restricted. Oh, the buttoning and boning, the bowing and scraping in long clumsy skirts! And, when she itched at the nearness of wool and the starchiness of cotton, the inventors of modern manmade fibers had yet to be born!

How fortunate you are in those modern fabrics, colorfast and care-free! How comfortable you are in today's styles! And how clever you can be about budgeting new fashions for your wardrobe, thanks to mass production in the garment industry and merchandising geared to good taste and average pocketbooks.

The list is endless. You can finish it yourself . . . while you put the last flattering touches on your own attractive Thanksgiving appearance.

"To Charm . . . To Fascinate, Captivate, Bewitch"

What is charm? Actually the word comes from the Latin "Carmen" meaning "song." But, you cannot define charm in one word, nor can you measure it with a ruler . . . its scope is too wide. Webster says "To charm means to subdue by secret influence; fascinate; captivate; bewitch." A charming woman is pleasing in the highest degree.

All this is what you want to achieve. And it isn't too difficult, nor is it a complicated matter. To make it easy, we have prepared a guide for you. It will help you fulfill your individual talent for charm. Called "Thirty Days to Charm," it is a reminder you will want to refer to often . . . or, better yet, memorize. If you do, you won't overlook any of the ways needed to impress all who come in contact with you. Send your request to me, today in care of this newspaper; enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a dime.

Here is something very important to remember. A charming woman has not only outward beauty but great inner warmth. She must have a combination of both. Outward or surface beauty is that assemblage of qualities in a woman which give pleasure to the eye—like her costume, face and figure—even her grace. While inner beauty is of the spirit and the mind that shines through and makes even the plainest face attractive (now you know why I think there need be no unattractive women). A charmer has great consideration for the sensitivities of those around her. I always remember what Shakespeare said: "A woman's kind heart and not her beauteous looks, shall win my love."

The bidding:

Opening lead: Five of ♦

A canny declarer will occasionally gain a head start on his adversaries by firing away in rapid succession for the first few tricks. This sort of thing seems to be contagious and many a seasoned player is unwittingly caught in the rhythm. As early as the third trick in today's hand West's forces had already become disorganized beyond the hope of regrouping.

Against the four heart contract, the opening lead of the five of diamonds was taken with the ace and the suit returned. Declarer proceeded to establish the trump suit by leading low from his hand. West with no defensive campaign in mind played second hand low and dummy's king held the trick. Declarer could now see a good chance to win the hand even if the club honors were unfavorably located. If the hearts were evenly divided, the defense was now helpless. He, thereupon, cashed the ace and king of spades and ruffed the seven of spades, completing the elimination of spades and diamonds from both hands. West was then given the lead with a trump. There was nothing for him to do but lead a club which declarer ducked. East won with the ten, but was powerless to make a return which would not give the balance of the tricks to declarer.

West's time for decision had come at trick three. His plan of attack should have been built on the prospect of winning two club tricks, for it was unlikely that his side could take more than the one trump trick. Observe that if South has either the king or jack of clubs the hand cannot be defeated regardless of declarer's spade holding. If West rises at trick three and shifts to a club, declarer will duck and East wins with the ten. He gets out with the queen of spades and then waits for the inevitable club trick to defeat the contract.

North-South vulnerable. South deals.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

It appears that even players of wide experience might lend an ear, if we are to judge by the manner in which today's hand was treated in a recent tournament.

Holding 22 high card points with even distribution, South had the regulation requirements for an opening bid of two no trump. North had just enough to raise his partner to three no trump.

In each case, West opened the jack of spades. One declarer won the trick in dummy, in order to salvage something by way of the club finesse. Even when this succeeded, he managed to win only eight tricks.

The other declarers, quite properly, won the trick in the closed hand, in order to preserve the ace of spades as an entry to dummy, should it develop that something could be done with the club suit.

However, when it came to the management of the club suit itself, some of them ran square into a blind spot. Of course, they all led the ace, and on the next round some of them led a small club in the hope that the king would fall on the second round. Their reasoning followed the line that K-x was just about as probable a holding as J-x, and they would be right, were there nothing further to consider but the club honors. The question, however, is not how to bring down the king of clubs, but how to bring in the club suit. If the king of clubs falls on the lead of a low club at trick two, declarer has not gained much, for surely a spade will come back, driving out dummy's ace, and the clubs will be blocked. To win the hand, declarer must be fortunate enough to find the jack of clubs doubleton, so that he can smother the king and jack by the lead of the queen. Those who made this play succeeded in bringing home tricks.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Little Things . . . For Thanksgiving

The big things will be counted out aloud on Thanksgiving Day. Things like peace, prosperity, life and health, home and love and family and friends to share them.

But you, lovely lady, might also breathe a private prayer of thanks for a long list of little things, all the remarkable inventions and developments of the past half-century that combine to make today's woman more attractive than her handsomest ancestor. Never before in history has it been so easy and so inexpensive to be perfectly groomed and as pretty as possible.

Think of all the basic devices of which you have a fingertip command . . . that your grandmother didn't have at all. A ready and steady supply of hot water, for example . . . and the tub, shower and washer to go with it, so that both you and your clothing can be fresh and sweet-smelling at all times.

Think of the variety of soaps and detergents available to you, each one gauged to specific needs, even to luxury considerations labeled "skin-type" or "non-allergenic" or "deodorant." All Grandma hoped to do with soap was cut the dirt. (And, oh, how her skin burned! Have you ever used a cake of homemade soap?)

Your creams, your oils and lotions, your powders, sprays, sachets and fragrances are yesterday's dreams come true. In fact, all the improvements in their blending have revolutionized society's attitude toward makeup. Today's makeup, while colorful enough to be fun, is meant to look NATURAL. And correctly applied, it does. So nobody objects at all any more when you give nature a helping hand.

Grandma may have daydreamed, daringly, of smoothing or hinding premature dryness and wrinkles, of brightening up her plain, pale features. But, how could she, without looking like a "painted woman"? That's just what makeup looked like then. Paint and plaster, gooey and garish. So, Grandma floured her nose and pinched her cheeks . . . and SHE gave thanks for soft gas lighting or candle-glow.

How about the breaks you've received in fashions? Remember how Grandma had to be constricted and restricted. Oh, the buttoning and boning, the bowing and scraping in long clumsy skirts! And, when she itched at the nearness of wool and the starchiness of cotton, the inventors of modern manmade fibers had yet to be born!

How fortunate you are in those modern fabrics, colorfast and care-free! How comfortable you are in today's styles! And how clever you can be about budgeting new fashions for your wardrobe, thanks to mass production in the garment industry and merchandising geared to good taste and average pocketbooks.

"To Charm . . . To Fascinate, Captivate, Bewitch"

What is charm? Actually the word comes from the Latin "Carmen" meaning "song." But, you cannot define charm in one word, nor can you measure it with a ruler . . . its scope is too wide. Webster says "To charm means to subdue by secret influence; fascinate; captivate; bewitch." A charming woman is pleasing in the highest degree.

All this is what you want to achieve. And it isn't too difficult, nor is it a complicated matter. To make it easy, we have prepared a guide for you. It will help you fulfill your individual talent for charm. Called "Thirty Days to Charm," it is a reminder you will want to refer to often . . . or, better yet, memorize. If you do, you won't overlook any of the ways needed to impress all who come in contact with you. Send your request to me, today in care of this newspaper; enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a dime.

Here is something very important to remember. A charming woman has not only outward beauty but great inner warmth. She must have a combination of both. Outward or surface beauty is that assemblage of qualities in a woman which give pleasure to the eye—like her costume, face and figure—even her grace. While inner beauty is of the spirit and the mind that shines through and makes even the plainest face attractive (now you know why I think there need be no unattractive women). A charmer has great consideration for the sensitivities of those around her. I always remember what Shakespeare said: "A woman's kind heart and not her beauteous looks, shall win my love."

The bidding:

North	East	South	West

Opening lead: Five of ♦

A canny declarer will occasionally gain a head start on his adversaries by firing away in rapid succession for the first few tricks. This sort of thing seems to be contagious and many a seasoned player is unwittingly caught in the rhythm. As early as the third trick in today's hand West's forces had already become disorganized beyond the hope of regrouping.

Against the four heart contract, the opening lead of the five of diamonds was taken with the ace and the suit returned. Declarer proceeded to establish the trump suit by leading low from his hand. West with no defensive campaign in mind played second hand low and dummy's king held the trick. Declarer could now see a good chance to win the hand even if the club honors were unfavorably located. If the hearts were evenly divided, the defense was now helpless. He, thereupon, cashed the ace and king of spades and ruffed the seven of spades, completing the elimination of spades and diamonds from both hands. West was then given the lead with a trump. There was nothing for him to do but lead a club which declarer ducked. East won with the ten, but was powerless to make a return which would not give the balance of the tricks to declarer.

West's time for decision had come at trick three. His plan of attack should have been built on the prospect of winning two club tricks, for it was unlikely that his side could take more than the one trump trick. Observe that if South has either the king or jack of clubs the hand cannot be defeated regardless of declarer's spade holding. If West rises at trick three and shifts to a club, declarer will duck and East wins with the ten. He gets out with the queen of spades and then waits for the inevitable club trick to defeat the contract.

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

It appears that even players of wide experience might lend an ear, if we are to judge by the manner in which today's hand was treated in a recent tournament.

Holding 22 high card points with even distribution, South had the regulation requirements for an opening bid of two no trump. North had just enough to raise his partner to three no trump.

In each case, West opened the jack of spades. One declarer won the trick in dummy, in order to salvage something by way of the club finesse. Even when this succeeded, he managed to win only eight tricks.

The other declarers, quite properly, won the trick in the closed hand, in order to preserve the ace of spades as an entry to dummy, should it develop that something could be done with the club suit.

However, when it came to the management of the club suit itself, some of them ran square into a blind spot. Of course, they all led the ace, and on the next round some of them led a small club in the hope that the king would fall on the second round. Their reasoning followed the line that K-x was just about as probable a holding as J-x, and they would be right, were there nothing further to consider but the club honors. The question, however, is not how to bring down the king of clubs, but how to bring in the club suit. If the king of clubs falls on the lead of a low club at trick two, declarer has not gained much, for surely a spade will come back, driving out dummy's ace, and the clubs will be blocked. To win the hand, declarer must be fortunate enough to find the jack of clubs doubleton, so that he can smother the king and jack by the lead of the queen. Those who made this play succeeded in bringing home tricks.

Market Closes Slightly Higher After Uphill Fight

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market staged a hard fight for a small gain Wednesday in a noteworthy display of resistance to selling pressure.

An early decline was whittled down slowly but surely to enable the vaunted 600 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average to live and fight another day.

That average rose 1.37 points to 602.47 while rail stocks gained a large 1.01 to 129.80 and utilities firmed 0.24 to 95.32. Volume trailed off in the pre-holiday session to 3 million shares from 3,430,000 Tuesday.

Besides the rails which responded to government mail pay increases, the best gains were achieved by the electronics, oils, motion pictures, some defense issues, foods, and scattered specials.

The big blue chips were mixed including a loss of 2¼ in DuPont which sold ex - dividend. More than countering this were Anaconda up 1⅛, Owens-Illinois up 2½ and Union Carbide up 1⅝. WYoungstown rose 1⅝ to rule the exception in a dull steel group. Motors were narrowly mixed.

The defense and electronics shares were stimulated by a successful launching of the Tiros weather satellite. General Dynamics rose 1¼. Zenith 2½, Beckman 1¼, RCA 1⅛ and Litton 2⅞.

Market Closes Slightly Higher After Uphill Fight

An early decline was whittled down slowly but surely to enable the vaunted 600 level in the Dow-Jones industrial average to live and fight another day.

That average rose 1.37 points to 602.47 while rail stocks gained a large 1.01 to 129.80 and utilities firmed 0.24 to 95.32. Volume trailed off in the pre-holiday session to 3 million shares from 3,430,000 Tuesday.

Besides the rails which responded to government mail pay increases, the best gains were achieved by the electronics, oils, motion pictures, some defense issues, foods, and scattered specials.

The big blue chips were mixed including a loss of 2¼ in DuPont which sold ex - dividend. More than countering this were Anaconda up 1⅛, Owens-Illinois up 2½ and Union Carbide up 1⅜. WYoungstown rose 1⅜ to rule the exception in a dull steel group. Motors were narrowly mixed.

The defense and electronics shares were stimulated by a successful launching of the Tiros weather satellite. General Dynamics rose 1¼, Zenith 2½, Beckman 1¼, RCA 1⅛ and Litton 2⅞.

Two Men Die After Car Hits Rig

Injuries Fatal To James Kuncher And Chester R. Raley

Two Pennsylvania men died as the result of injuries sustained in a freak three-vehicle accident late Tuesday night near Schellsburg.

Chester R. Raley of Boswell, who was admitted to the hospital in critical condition shortly after the accident at 10:20 p.m., died at 10:25 a.m. yesterday.

Uninjured in the accident were Charles H. Forshey of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, tractor-trailer driver, and Leonard E. Brewer of Latrobe, Pa., who was steering an auto being towed by a car operated by Raley.

Pennsylvania State Police gave this account of the accident on U.S. Route 30 about two miles west of Schellsburg:

As the two vehicles were negotiating a right hand curve at an apparent high rate of speed, the apparatus being used to tow the car broke.

Police said Kuncher died as a result of a crushed chest. They reported that Raley had suffered possible concussion, internal injuries and a leg injury.

Free Satellite Election Talk Might Check Nikita

The United States and other freedom-loving nations of the world can put Nikita Khrushchev on the defensive by insisting that he allow free elections in the countries behind the Iron Curtain.

That opinion was advanced here yesterday by Almar Reitner, 37-year-old German newspaper editor from Munich, in an address to more than 100 members of the Cumberland Lions and Kiwanis clubs, which met jointly at Central YMCA.

"Khrushchev will never allow free elections so long as he is in power, but he would be placed in an uncomfortable position trying to defend the absence of free elections before the United Nations," Herr Reitner suggested.

In his brief talk, the German editor contrasted conditions in West Germany with those in East Germany. West Germany received its freedom in 1949 and with it the right to free elections, something East Germany still does not have. West Germany's industry has been rebuilt, primarily with Marshall Plan aid from the United States. East German industry has been used for the sole purpose of strengthening Soviet Russia.

Even the refugees fleeing oppression in East Germany have proven an economic advantage to West Germany, which has had the job of placing them in a productive position while they enjoy their freedom.

Since World War II nearly three million refugees have fled East Germany out of a population of 17 million. West Germany now has a population of about 60 million inhabitants.

Herr Reitzner stressed the fallacy of the Russian argument that Berlin should be made a so-called "free city." Eventually that would mean that the allied troops now stationed in West Berlin would be withdrawn and Khrushchev with his 22 divisions deployed near Berlin would walk in and fill the void.

The editor acknowledged that in a real showdown, the 10,000 Allied troops in West Berlin would be no match for the much larger Soviet force there. The Allied troops there serve as a symbol, and an attack upon them might project the world into another war.

Her Reitzner pointed out that West Germany now feels a responsibility to help underdeveloped countries as she was helped by the United States. He expressed hope that the discussion between American and West German leaders over the gold situation might end with favorable

'Moon' Built By Former Local Man

A section of the moon showing an imaginary lunar base constructed by a former resident was featured in an article appearing in the Baltimore Sunday Sun magazine of November 20.

"What may be the very best model of the moon ever constructed was completed recently by 40-year-old Ray Benton in his basement at 1922 Valley Road, Woodlawn," the magazine article stated.

It was pointed out that the project took 4½ years and 5,250 hours of work to construct. The plastic model is 21 and five-eighths inches in diameter or one six-millionth the size of the actual moon.

It depicts the half of the satellite that is visible to us—or, more exactly, that half plus the extra nine per cent that is visible because of the moon's oscillating movements.

An article dealing with the project appeared in The Cumberland News May 22, 1959. Mr. Benton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benton who formerly lived on Cresap Street.

Mineral Schools Situation Aired By Consultants

Population Change, Overcrowding Cited

Two consultants of West Virginia University recently completed a 39-page survey of school plant needs requested by the Board of Education which recognizes the county's children were accommodated in several places under plant conditions and atmosphere below standards for today's youth.

The immediate and urgent cause was severe overcrowding and changing population patterns in certain parts of the county.

The board asked that a thoroughgoing, unprejudiced study of facts and conditions bearing upon the building problem be directed toward the objective of setting up a building program based on these and authentic needs which they revealed, embracing as far a look ahead as could reasonably be expected.

"Crucial Days"

It is the conviction of the survey team that these are crucial days for both the schools and citizens of the county. The task which confronts the board, its administrative staff and its citizens "is too urgent and too far reaching to enlist anything short of their most earnest consideration, longheaded judgment and tireless endeavor."

These problems are the result of a number of circumstances. Among them are that much of the physical plant and the kind of school organization presently in operation was inherited from the magisterial districts which preceded the county unit for school administration that began in 1933.

District boards and the earlier county boards planned for a type of organization and for circumstances somewhat less complicated than those which have to be faced now.

Because of poor roads and the consequent difficulty of assembling relatively large numbers of children in places other than centers of population, schools tended to be highly localized institutions.

Planned Well

For the most part these boards planned well for conditions that existed when plans were made, sites were located and buildings built, the consultants said.

Although the present board cannot be held responsible for their decisions, said the report, it must cope with conditions thus created and, insofar as these interfere with the best possible arrangements for schooling the current generation, remedy them under presently prevailing circumstances which make possible a still more unified county school system.

Teacher Relief Fund Trustees Elected

MAKE YOUR HOME HAPPIER WITH A NEW APPLIANCE

Major Appliance Is An Ideal Christmas Gift

In factory after factory the managers are ripping out perfectly good machines which have years of service ahead of them and replacing them with machinery which can do more things better, more economically and faster.

What's that got to do with your home? Simply this. In your home there are sturdily made appliances which, even if moderately old, may have years of service left in them. Then why replace them? For the same reason the business man buys new machines. Because the new appliances can do more things better, more reliably and with less attention.

That's why Christmas is such a good occasion to replace old appliances. A major appliance is truly a family gift, and the whole family will wonder how they ever p up with some of the old ones.

Major appliances are valued as time and labor savers. The more time and effort they require for operation, the less valuable they are.

For example, take the refrigerator, possibly the appliance requiring the least attention of all. That is until it comes time for defrosting. This is unquestionably one of the homemaker's most distasteful tasks. For this reason it is often neglected until the frost is so thick the door will hardly close.

How nice it would be to have a modern refrigerator which either prevents frost from forming or defrosts itself automatically!

Here are some tests your appliances should pass if they are giving you the up-to-date service you are entitled to:

If you use a gas range, does the oven have a pilot, or do you have to squat, squint and stretch every time you have to light the oven?

If it's an electric range, does it have a thermostatic surface unit which makes every pot and pan automatic?

Does your automatic washer inject bleach and softening agents automatically so that you don't have to watch for the right cycle?

Does your clothes dryer have a no-heat tumble cycle so that wash-and-wear garments can be dried wrinkle-free automatically, ending the mess of drip-drying?

Does your water heater have sufficient capacity and rapid enough recovery so that hot water never runs out?

There is another parallel between the machine in the factory and the appliance in the home. One reason for installing new machinery is the avoidance of breakdown with its resultant repair expense and loss of production. When an older appliance needs service the tendency is to make just one more repair before replacing it. This can be throwing good money after bad. At best you will still have an old appliance with all its limitations.

This can be potent ammunition for the homemaker to use on her possibly reluctant, but business-minded, husband.

Yule Lighting Tip

Staying Young

Smooths Clothes

Freezer Can Ease Cook's Holiday

The holidays will be more fun and less frenzied for the woman who does her Christmas cooking early. It's no problem if she owns a roomy new electric refrigerator-freezer.

Cakes, pies, cookies, and party snacks can be made weeks ahead of time and stored in the freezer section. Home-made casseroles, soups, and sauces, too, can come out of the freezer section during the busy holidays for easy-to-prepare family meals and gracious spur-of-the-moment entertaining.

Christmas dinner without the traditional Christmas Day drudgery is possible if it comes mainly from the freezer section. The turkey dressing, vegetables, soup and desserts all can be prepared in advance and frozen. For economy, the turkey can be bought frozen before the prices are upped for the holiday, then thawed and stuffed just before roasting.

Fruits, fresh vegetables, and salad greens bought several days before Christmas to avoid last-minute supermarket crowds will stay fresh in the refrigerator section. Today's electric refrigerator-freezers can keep quantities of fresh foods at top quality up to a week.

Modern Refrigerators Have New Conveniences And Better Styling

Far Cry From Ice Chests Of Only Three Decades Ago

It may be that you can't teach an old dog new tricks—but that applies to dogs, not appliances.

Take, for instance, one of the oldest of electric appliances, the refrigerator. Too often you're likely to think of it in terms of a mechanical icebox, vastly more reliable than those old ice chests we struggled with 25 years ago, but still a pretty familiar item.

But today's refrigerator has a whole set of new tricks of its own. Actually, they're not "tricks" in any sense of the word. Instead, they're well-designed innovations which make the refrigerator of today easier and more convenient to use.

That's important for the man of the house to remember when he goes shopping for a White Christmas appliance gift for the family. He may ignore the possibilities in a new refrigerator because "we have one and it still works."

But when he makes that statement the customer is likely to be overlooking the fact that even if his present refrigerator still gives good service, it may lack many of the features that would make it truly modern.

Let's begin with style. Today you can get refrigerators in a variety of styles, colors and sizes (and the larger sizes are growing ever more popular). Many have "straight-line" design which permits them to be installed flush up against your cabinets or other appliances.

Many modern refrigerators either prevent frost from ever forming or offer automatic defrosting, features which any woman who has ever tottered across the kitchen floor with an overflowing tray of melted frost will heartily applaud.

More and more have true freezers to enable you to take advantage of the miracles and economies possible with frozen food. Freezer compartments also offer the no-frost feature.

Then check off the convenience features inside the refrigerator itself. Shelves swing out and slide out. They're adjustable up and down and completely removable for storage of bulky items. Storage racks on the doors have been improved and made more convenient. Special temperature compartments are provided for foods like butter and cheese.

Ice cube trays come in lots of new forms. Some are not really trays at all, but miniature ice-making machines which assure you an ever-ready supply of cubes. Others retain the familiar tray but have improved the release mechanisms so that the ice is easier to release.

That's only a beginning, of course. A few moments with your local appliance dealer will convince you that today's refrigerators have indeed learned new tricks and that your present refrigerator isn't modern just because "it works."

Plays Santa

Liquefied petroleum (LP) gas in bottle, cylinder or tank plays Santa Claus to farm and suburban homes all over the country, by bringing the advantages of gas to those living beyond city gas mains.

SHELVES, VEGETABLE MART AND FREEZER BASKET of refrigerator-freezer all swing out. New thin insulation permits 18 cubic foot model to fit in same floor space as a 12 cubic foot unit.

OUT OF ITS Christmasy wrappings this waste disposer will be blessed every day.

Leisure Can Be Bought At The Appliance Store

There's not a husband alive who wouldn't like the answers to those questions—for leisure time is obviously the best gift he could possibly give his wife for Christmas.

Actually, the answers are surprisingly simple. That's because today's labor-saving appliances are also time-savers. Thus, the lucky lady who receives a major appliance from her family as a Christmas present is getting more than simply a machine which will make her work easier—she is, in effect, receiving a "package" of leisure time. These extra moments will came to her every day of the year and they are hers to do with just as she wants.

No husband will be surprised, of course, if his wife devotes most of those new found leisure moments to the family as well as herself. That's one beauty of an appliance as a Christmas present—the family reaps the indirect benefits even as mother herself gets the real use out of it.

The woman who owns a modern home freezer, for example, will find that precious moments just before a meal time can now be spent with her family and guests. Delicacies prepared long in advance merely have to be removed from the freezer and popped in the oven. And if she owns a modern range with the latest in automatic controls, she'll have just that much more time in which to relax before the meal is ready for the table.

Or, if the Christmas gift comes in the form of a dishwasher, the family will be able to relax together after the meal while the machine takes over the clean-up chore which once made mother an exile in the kitchen.

Kitchen Twins

Specifically styled to complement each other in appearance is a new kitchen combination — a 24" built-in oven range and a and a 24" built-in under-counter dishwasher.

The units can be installed side by side or separated by storage cabinets or a sink unit. Range burner unit can be installed independently from the oven if desired

Ranges Now Come In Rainbow Of Color

In addition to better cooking qualities, today's ranges are so good looking that they give a lift to the whole kitchen. Gone are the look-alike cook-stoves of the past. Now there's a color, style and size to fit every taste and every need.

With color growing ever more popular, appliance manufacturers have produced ranges in gleaming stainless steel and a whole rainbow of attractive shades to fit any decor.

As for styles, there are still two basic types—the free-standing and the built-in. The built-in range has oven and surface burners installed at separate convenient locations.

Free-standing ranges have now been glamorized to the point where they look built-in. Their beauty is that they can give this look to a kitchen with little or no remodeling.

Fast-Freeze Fan

A fast-freeze fan, mounted in a special louvered port of a new chest-type freezer, blows jets of cold air against foods, to speed freezing. The fast-freeze fan is in optional feature.

Actually, the answers are surprisingly simple. That's because today's labor-saving appliances are also time-savers. Thus, the lucky lady who receives a major appliance from her family as a Christmas present is getting more than simply a machine which will make her work easier—she is, in effect, receiving a "package" of leisure time. These extra moments will came to her every day of the year and they are hers to do with just as she wants.

No husband will be surprised, of course, if his wife devotes most of those new found leisure moments to the family as well as herself. That's one beauty of an appliance as a Christmas present—the family reaps the indirect benefits even as mother herself gets the real use out of it.

The woman who owns a modern home freezer, for example, will find that precious moments just before a meal time can now be spent with her family and guests. Delicacies prepared long in advance merely have to be removed from the freezer and popped in the oven. And if she owns a modern range with the latest in automatic controls, she'll have just that much more time in which to relax before the meal is ready for the table.

Or, if the Christmas gift comes in the form of a dishwasher, the family will be able to relax together after the meal while the machine takes over the clean-up chore which once made mother an exile in the kitchen.

Here's Glamor That's More Than Skin Deep

Modern Space-Savers Provide Convenience

SURROUNDED—This modern homemaker, surrounded by late model gas appliances, has found the ideal answer to pleasant, convenient, economical living. She's shown here in utility room emptying garbage into an automatic incinerator. Home is cooled in summer and heated in winter by gas air conditioning system at right. Behind her is a gas water heater, assuring an abundant supply of hot water. At left is a fully automatic gas clothes dryer.

Who says Christmas comes but once a year? It can be Christmas 365 days a year.

How's that possible? Simple. Make your Christmas gift one which will be used—and appreciated—every day of the year.

For that purpose it's hard to improve on a major appliance which will make this Christmas a "white one" and will pay dividends of use every single day of the year.

Best of all, there's nothing "unglamorous" about such an appliance gift. For one thing, designers of today's modern appliances have dressed up their products with so many features and with such attractive trim that no woman can think of them as anything less than glamorous.

But the glamor of a major appliance is more than skin deep. Women might indeed become tired of a product which did nothing but "look good." There's no danger of this happening with a modern appliance which day after day will earn a deeper place in the lady's affections as it takes over more and more of her chores.

Nor are added leisure and labor-saving the only bonuses which an appliance gift will pay. In many cases, a new appliance can open up new vistas for the woman who receives it. Today's modern ranges and freezers, for example, make possible new adventures in cooking and in meal preparation and preservation.

Meal times, however, are not the only hours of the day from which extra leisure moments can be extracted by modern appliances. A big, spacious refrigerator, for example, eliminates the need for repeated, time-consuming trips to the store. Shopping once a week is enough, for the wife with a modern refrigerator and home freezer really has a supermarket in her own home.

Washday, too, can be changed from an exhausting and time consuming interval to an effortless interlude during which the housewife need do little more than set dials and push buttons.

Next July the woman who pulls a ready-cooked meal from her freezer, or who can go shopping while others have to defrost their old refrigerator, or who can sit on the terrace while the dishwasher works, or who can rely on modern appliances to handle her new wash and wear clothes is likely to bless the man who last Christmas gave her a gift which pays dividends 365 days a year.

PRICE REPORT

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most frozen orange juice brands are expected to remain low in price despite hurricane damage to the Florida fruit crop. Florida's orange crop for the year starting Dec. 1, 1961, is estimated at 90.5 million boxes, only 1 per cent below this year.

Freezer Protects

Precious winter woolens can be kept moth-and-odor free if they are wrapped in plastic and stored in an electric home freezer during summer months.

BIG LIFT

NEW YORK (UPI) — A drawing of a helicopter that could straddle a huge highway truck trailer, pick it up and fly away with it was described by Hiler Aircraft Corp. The helicopter, weighing 30 tons, would be powered by turbojet engines mounted in the tips of its rotor blades.

Dishwasher Owners Lost Without 'Em

Here are some typical comments from housewives who own electric dishwashers:

"My dishwasher gets all my dishes perfectly clean. Even the egg on the breakfast dishes disappears, thanks to the pre-rinse cycle. Lipstick on coffee cups, too."

"I thought it would be a lot of trouble to get dishes ready for the dishwasher, but it isn't. I just scrape them, load them in the dishwasher and push the button. They don't have to be hand rinsed."

"There are only two of us, so I can do all our dishes for the day at one time. When we have company, it's a blessing."

"We live in an apartment, so our portable solved the problem of making a permanent installation. If we move, we can take it with us."

Modern electric dishwashers do get egg and all other foods off dishes, silverware, pots, pans and utensils. Not even hand rinsing is needed before loading. All the housewife has to do is scrape leftover food from plates before placing them in the dishwasher.

Powerful jets of extremely hot water and detergent scour and wash food away. Food particles are caught in a filter or trap to prevent them from being re-deposited on dishes. Some new electric dishwashers have a pre-rinse cycle to loosen and remove heavily cooked-on foods from utensils. Despite repeated washings and rinsings, dishwashers use very little more water than hand-washing.

For large families an automatic dishwasher is almost indispensable, but even a small family with a dishwasher saves many hours a week. It takes the same number of pots and pans to cook for two as for four. Couples who entertain frequently are particularly grateful for automatic dishwashers, as are working wives.

For apartment dwellers, portable dishwashers are the answer. They are just as efficient as built-in models, and some hold just as many dishes. Portables are rolled to the sink at dishwashing time, then rolled out of the way when not in use.

Portable or built-in, modern electric dishwashers are considered necessities by the women who have them. Dishwashers provide many extra hours for more important homemaking duties; they keep kitchens neater, as dirty dishes go right into the dishwasher after use, and they get dishes cleaner and more germ-free than the most careful hand washing can.

Compact Cold

Twist Of A Dial

Adjustment of water temperature for personal use or for a variety of household chores is as simple as the twist of the dial on your automatic water heater.

Automatic Dishwasher Is A Perfect Yule Gift For The Whole Family

Portables as well as under-counter types are quieter, have greater capacity, are simpler to load, and dry dishes and glassware without spotting. They include such new features as:

Greater capacity, holding up to 14 place settings.

Special cycles have been added to make dishwashing more flexible. Many have a pre-wash cycle to rinse dishes a homemaker may want to leave in the dishwasher until a full load has been accumulated.

Wide choice of models: built-ins to install under a counter or stack counter-high on a base cabinet. Portables fall into two classes: the regular mobiles and the convertibles that can be built-in later. Portables do everything the built-ins do. They're lighter, easier to roll to the table for loading, to the sink for washing, to the cupboard for putting dishes away. And, of course, they go along with families when they move.

SANTA BRINGS HAPPINESS that will last every day of the year with this mobile dishwasher. Unit washes all dishes and utensils used by family of four in an entire day in a single load.

How Big?

Freeze Leftovers

CLAIMS ARE BOOMING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mineral-rich Utah is in the middle of another boom — this time an all-out quest for beryllium.

A report from Beryllium International Corp. notes that the firm has acquired 19 beryllium claims in Utah's Topaz Mountain area. The claims reportedly total 1,900 acres and have attracted interest from a number of other firms. It wasn't long ago that uranium fever swept the West with Utah in the center of it all.

Space, Work Saved By New Appliances

They've slimmed down the lines of today's labor-saving major appliances, squaring off corners to come up with a built-in look. The result: you can give your kitchen a modern, functional appearance without having to replace free-standing appliances with built-ins.

Nor is the shape the only thing which has been changed. Whole concepts of design and application have come in for a long second look by engineers and today's major appliances have a versatility unknown in previous years.

Take the home freezer for example. Once it was a boxy chest-type unit. Today we still have chest-type freezers but their lines have been streamlined and new racks and baskets added to the interior to make their use even easier.

In addition to the chest freezer we now have upright models which save valuable floor space if that's a factor in your planning. There are also under-counter models and wall-hung and built-in types.

Much the same thing has happened to that most familiar of all appliances the electric refrigerator. The conventional, free-standing model has had its corners squared off so that you can achieve a built-in look if you desire. Or you can buy refrigeration in built-in or wall-hung models.

Indeed, the continually growing popularity of refrigerator-freezer combinations is one of the most significant design trends in modern kitchen planning. From a variety of models available you can pick the unit best suited to your needs, with the bulk of the space devoted to either freezer or refrigerator space, whichever you prefer.

Everyone is familiar with the built-in range which several years ago provided range designers with a "new look." Now, even the free-standing range has been redesigned and it's hardly surprising that these conventional units too, have a built-in "look."

Still another way of achieving this style is with the new "stack-on" ranges which can be hung on the wall or mounted on a kitchen cabinet.

That's why giving a modern appliance is such a pleasure. Not only can you select the type of features you want but you can also get them in just the "package" which will fit your own needs best.

Get Rid Of That Old Refrigerator

If it is, it's outdated, outmoded, and—most important of all—isn't doing the job for your family that a new electric refrigerator-freezer can do.

Today's electric refrigerator-freezers are "West Pointers" — slim, straight, and squared off. They look better and do a better job of storing more food longer. Although they occupy the same amount of space as the old, round-shouldered units, better insulation methods make more food storage space possible because walls can be thinner.

Today's models also have doors that are hinged to open within the width of the unit, making it possible for the refrigerator-freezer to be installed flush against a wall or between cabinets.

SANTA has a gift that's tops in family comfort — a big-capacity water heater.

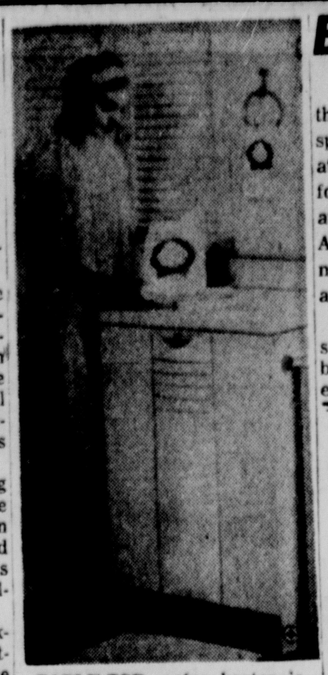

TABLE-TOP water heater is useful surface in bathroom made gay with holly towels.

What They Say

What They Mean

"Ampere" or "amp" denotes capacity. "Watt" is the amount of energy used. "Volt" is the level of pressure — the higher the voltage number, the greater the pressure.

TEMPORARY HELP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Salespower, a subsidiary of Manpower, Inc. offers temporary salesmen to companies for blitz campaigns for new products and seasonal promotions. The company claims it can put up to 1,500 salesmen in the field within 24 to 48 hours.

Blender Is Big Help At Baby's Mealtime

When that very young lady in the high chair blows out the first spoonful of baby food, then obstinately refuses to open her mouth for more, what do you do? Open another jar and try a new flavor? An electric blender provides a much better solution to the fussy-about-food problem.

Many mothers today find they save money by preparing all of baby's food in the electric blender. Babies will often eat foods fresh from the blender that were refused when they came from a jar or can.

Baby foods made in an electric blender taste better and retain more nutrients. They cost less, too. Compare the price of a bunch of carrots, for instance (far more than baby will eat in a day), with the price of a jar of strained carrots. You save, too, by cutting meat from the family roast and preparing the baby's share in the blender.

For variety, try blending two or more vegetables together, or if the baby refuses a nutritious food like spinach, he may eat it blended with a vegetable he likes.

It's not only baby who will enjoy his food more if you have an electric blender. It will help provide nourishing, delicious soups, desserts, drinks, and dips for the whole family.

Most of the growth in the employment of wives and mothers has come about during the last two decades.

Automatic Dishwasher Is A Perfect Yule Gift For The Whole Family

Automatic dishwashers — the ideal family Christmas gift—have been improved to make them more valuable than ever.

Portables as well as under-counter types are quieter, have greater capacity, are simpler to load, and dry dishes and glassware without spotting. They include such new features as:

More powerful water action washes dishes so thoroughly pre-rinsing by hand is no longer necessary.

Greater capacity, holding up to 14 place settings.

Special cycles have been added to make dishwashing more flexible. Many have a pre-wash cycle to rinse dishes a homemaker may want to leave in the dishwasher until a full load has been accumulated.

Automatically dispensed detergents go into the wash cycle and a wetting agent added to the final rinse water speeds up drying and assures spotless results.

Racks are better designed to hold odd shaped utensils as well as standard dishes.

Filters and flushaway drains keep food particles from being redeposited on dishes.

Wide choice of models: built-ins to install under a counter or stack counter-high on a base cabinet. Portables fall into two classes: the regular mobiles and the convertibles that can be built-in later. Portables do everything the built-ins do. They're lighter, easier to roll to the table for loading, to the sink for washing, to the cupboard for putting dishes away. And, of course, they go along with families when they move.

Automatic electric dishwashers can save 225 hours a year — valuable time that any busy homemaker can use to good advantage.

SANTA BRINGS HAPPINESS that will last every day of the year with this mobile dishwasher. Unit washes all dishes and utensils used by family of four in an entire day in a single load.

How Big?

Freeze Leftovers

CLAIMS ARE BOOMING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mineral-rich Utah is in the middle of another boom — this time an all-out quest for beryllium.

A report from Beryllium International Corp. notes that the firm has acquired 19 beryllium claims in Utah's Topaz Mountain area. The claims reportedly total 1,900 acres and have attracted interest from a number of other firms. It wasn't long ago that uranium fever swept the West with Utah in the center of it all.

Space, Work Saved By New Appliances

They've slimmed down the lines of today's labor-saving major appliances, squaring off corners to come up with a built-in look. The result: you can give your kitchen a modern, functional appearance without having to replace free-standing appliances with built-ins.

Nor is the shape the only thing which has been changed. Whole concepts of design and application have come in for a long second look by engineers and today's major appliances have a versatility unknown in previous years.

Take the home freezer for example. Once it was a boxy chest-type unit. Today we still have chest-type freezers but their lines have been streamlined and new racks and baskets added to the interior to make their use even easier.

In addition to the chest freezer we now have upright models which save valuable floor space if that's a factor in your planning. There are also under-counter models and wall-hung and built-in types.

Thus, where once there was a single type of freezer, today there's a whole family of models available. You can give her her choice.

Much the same thing has happened to that most familiar of all appliances the electric refrigerator. The conventional, free-standing model has had its corners squared off so that you can achieve a built-in look if you desire. Or you can buy refrigeration in built-in or wall-hung models.

Indeed, the continually growing popularity of refrigerator-freezer combinations is one of the most significant design trends in modern kitchen planning. From a variety of models available you can pick the unit best suited to your needs, with the bulk of the space devoted to either freezer or refrigerator space, whichever you prefer.

Everyone is familiar with the built-in range which several years ago provided range designers with a "new look." Now, even the free-standing range has been redesigned and it's hardly surprising that these conventional units too, have a built-in "look."

Still another way of achieving this style is with the new "stack-on" ranges which can be hung on the wall or mounted on a kitchen cabinet.

That's why giving a modern appliance is such a pleasure. Not only can you select the type of features you want but you can also get them in just the "package" which will fit your own needs best.

TABLE-TOP water heater is useful surface in bathroom made gay with holly towels.

What They Say

What They Mean

"Ampere" or "amp" denotes capacity. "Watt" is the amount of energy used. "Volt" is the level of pressure — the higher the voltage number, the greater the pressure.

TEMPORARY HELP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Salespower, a subsidiary of Manpower, Inc. offers temporary salesmen to companies for blitz campaigns for new products and seasonal promotions. The company claims it can put up to 1,500 salesmen in the field within 24 to 48 hours.

Blender Is Big Help At Baby's Mealtime

When that very young lady in the high chair blows out the first spoonful of baby food, then obstinately refuses to open her mouth for more, what do you do? Open another jar and try a new flavor? An electric blender provides a much better solution to the fussy-about-food problem.

Many mothers today find they save money by preparing all of baby's food in the electric blender. Babies will often eat foods fresh from the blender that were refused when they came from a jar or can.

Baby foods made in an electric blender taste better and retain more nutrients. They cost less, too. Compare the price of a bunch of carrots, for instance (far more than baby will eat in a day), with the price of a jar of strained carrots. You save, too, by cutting meat from the family roast and preparing the baby's share in the blender.

For variety, try blending two or more vegetables together, or if the baby refuses a nutritious food like spinach, he may eat it blended with a vegetable he likes.

It's not only baby who will enjoy his food more if you have an electric blender. It will help provide nourishing, delicious soups, desserts, drinks, and dips for the whole family.

Most of the growth in the employment of wives and mothers has come about during the last two decades.

Get Rid Of That Old Refrigerator

Is your refrigerator round-shouldered?

If it is, it's outdated, outmoded, and—most important of all—isn't doing the job for your family that a new electric refrigerator-freezer can do.

Today's electric refrigerator-freezers are "West Pointers" — slim, straight, and squared off. They look better and do a better job of storing more food longer. Although they occupy the same amount of space as the old, round-shouldered units, better insulation methods make more food storage space possible because walls can be thinner.

Today's models also have doors that are hinged to open within the width of the unit, making it possible for the refrigerator-freezer to be installed flush against a wall or between cabinets.

Manufacturers of today's electric refrigerator-freezers have added larger specially humidified crispers, automatic ice cube makers, quick-chill shelves, roll-out shelves for easy access to foods, and many other features old refrigerators don't have.

Buy Low, 'Sell' High With Food Freezer

"Buy low and sell high . . ."

You might not realize it, but in running your household you can apply this ancient rule with just as happy a result as the Wall Street banker.

Food buying is the greatest single expense in the average family's budget. If you save money on food through wise buying and storing, you are saving in the budget category where it counts most.

By installing a food freezer in your house, you can capitalize on the "Buy low—sell high" dictum. If you have a freezer, you can buy in quantity when the price of certain food is low and bring it to your table months later when the price is high. The price difference is money in your pocket.

'EASY AS APPLE PIE'—The old saying becomes full-flavored reality when baking is done in the clock-controlled oven of a modern gas range. Other features include clock controls, adjustable racks, oven insulation and thermostatic controls.

Special Features Make New Ranges Ideal Gifts For Year-Round Enjoyment

Could a woman want a better gift from St. Nick than to hear her husband say, "My wife's the best cook in the world?"

Well, appliance manufacturers have developed their ranges to a point where even your undemonstrative hubby might be saying it this Christmas.

What with all the fussing there is around holiday time, many a housewife would be thankful just to know that her Christmas dinner will be done right, and on time. But a woman likes to feel that her holiday meals are something special.

Even the best of cooks have boil-overs, burnt food and scorched cooking vessels, but now that's all impossible. These housewife's enemies haven't a chance, with new top burner controls, which keep the precise temperature at which you set them, be it 150 degrees for mashed potatoes, or 400 degrees for French fries.

Automatic roast controls eliminate all the guesswork from roasting. Before leaving the house, the housewife decides at what hour the roast should be started and whether she'd like it rare, medium or well done. She sets the controls accordingly, sticks a probe into the meat, and the range takes over. It will stay at a steady temperature until the roast reaches the indicated degree of "doneness" and shut off automatically when the meat is ready for serving.

Rotisseries are included in better ranges, and there may be as many as three spits. Combined with other range features, the rotisserie lures you into preparing such exotic new foods for yourself and family, as shish kebab.

Ovens are getting larger, and even 30-inch ranges may have a 24-inch oven. Some ranges have two ovens, permitting simultaneous baking of items that require different times and temperature. This enables you to do all your Christmas baking at once—pies, and meat, for example. Two broilers in a single range are becoming more common, too, another feature that helps you do your work better and more quickly.

Ovens, of course, respond to pre-set temperatures, lighting up or buzzing or otherwise informing the housewife when her work is done. Fifth burners, convertible to griddles or deep fryers, further advance the range's utility, as do toasting compartments.

Ease of cleaning is being stressed more and more. Some ranges are built so that their entire top lifts up for cleaning. Some have oven racks that can't be pulled out too far, but far enough for cleaning.

Appliance makers have added some extras for your convenience, such as broiling trays and disposable aluminum liners for burner bowls.

As with the man you married, it might be the good looks that attracted you, but it's the good qualities that make you love him.

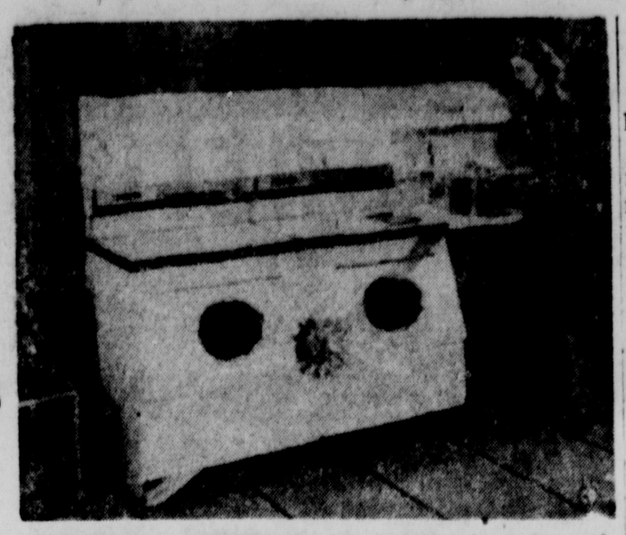
Automatic Appliances Make Every Day Sunny In Laundry



SAY "MERRY CHRISTMAS" with an automatic washer and dryer, and you chase washday blues the year around. Flexible five-cycle controls are featured on both of these laundry twins.

STAINLESS STEEL tub is feature of one brand of washer. Tube at left of tub ejects sand.

Avoid Tile Cracks

According to population experts, less than seven per cent of American women never marry.

NO CHECK PAYROLL

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — The Union National Bank of Wichita has picked up a lot of new deposits by persuading 15 companies to adopt its "no check payroll" plan. Instead of a paycheck, each employe gets his full pay deposited in the bank. He is free to transfer it without charge to another bank if he wishes.

Washday Liberated From Weather

That's the safest, surest and most certain weather forecast you can find. Even in the tropics in the rainy season you could safely predict sunny weather in the modern laundry room.

One reason, of course, is that modern appliances like the automatic washer and dryer have liberated washday from the weather outside. Grandmother, of course, just had to wait for a good "drying day." And even then, some of the good drying days were so hot that she could take little enjoyment from the prospect of standing over boiling wash tubs.

Today's housewife, of course, need never move outside of her laundry room and the whole process of modern laundering is so easy and carefree that the lady of the house couldn't care less about what the weather outside is like.

But freedom from worry about the weather is only one reason for the "sunny" disposition of women who have a modern electric laundry in their home. Actually, laundry day is always "fair" for them because all the "clouds" that once hung over washday have been dissipated by today's labor saving appliances, new achievements in soil-resistant and care-free fabrics, and spectacular advances in soaps, detergents, bleaches and starches.

Consider for a moment the changes which electrical appliances have made in washday. Can you remember the hand scrubbing, the boiling of clothes, the transferring of heavy wet laundry from one tub to another? With today's washers the housewife need do nothing but set the controls and turn the machine on. From that point an array of mechanical brains and capable electrical servants take over and do the washing.

And years ago, after the clothes had been washed, they had to be loaded in a basket, the basket carried upstairs and the heavy, cumbersome laundry hung on the line. Then you worried about the weather, smoke, wind-blown dirt —and a dozen other potential catastrophies. In today's laundry the damp-dry clothes are moved from the washer to the neighboring dryer, a switch is turned on and all drying headaches have been taken care of.

Easy as this sounds, it isn't the last word in laundry convenience. If you get a combination washer-dryer, your clothes are washed and dried without any attention from you at all.

Finally, the clothes must be ironed. That once could mean but one thing — exhausting hours standing over an ironing board. But modern ironers have taken the physical work out of ironing while at the same time drastically reducing the time needed for this operation.

Is it so surprising then that women who own modern laundries have a sunny disposition when it comes to washday. For them it's obvious that in their laundries, at least, the sun really does shine 365 days a year.

New Ranges Made For Easy Work

Lampblacking the old coal stove was a cinch compared to trying to clean some of the so-called "modern" ranges that came along in the 'twenties and 'thirties. Cracks and crevices, gratings and grillwork caught and held spillovers, ovens were inaccesible, and the whole stove had to be moved to get at dust underneath.

Electrical appliance manufacturers today have listened to the cries of busy housewives and now make ranges that not only help her cook well and efficiently, but are designed for convenience of cleaning, inside and out.

Among the features that make the new electric ranges easy to clean are hinged lift-up tops, ovens that pull all the way out, removable oven doors, throw-away oven liners, storage drawers that come out for cleaning under the range, recessed cooking tops that prevent spillovers, and removable reflector pans under the elements.

ELECTRONIC CONTROL SYSTEM of dryer measures moisture in clothes as they are drying, shuts off automatically when clothes reach desired degree of dryness, regardless of load size.

Appliances Instead Of Servants

Young mothers with growing responsibilities who yearn for servants such as Grandma had can count their blessings toady. A comparison of Grandma's household staff with today's substitute servants—modern electric appliances and housewares—will open their eyes. Consider these facts, for instance:

1. Availability: Even families who can afford servants have trouble finding and keeping them. But every family can choose from a wide variety of efficient and attractive electrical appliances to meet a specific household need within a tight budget. Electric housewares such as skillets, mixers, irons, and others are sold at hardware, department, and home furnishing stores—even at some drugstores. Ranges, refrigerator-freezers, dishwashers, and other major appliances can be bought at appliance or department stores, and from many electric utilities.

2. Training: The most experienced servant must be taught the individual homemaker's routine. Training an inexperienced servant can be more trouble than doing the work alone. Happily, an electric appliance requires no training. An automatic dishwasher, for example, is ready as soon as it is installed to get dishes cleaner and more germ-free than if they were washed by hand. Breakage is minimized because there's a minimum of handling.

3. Operating costs: Servants get salaries—high ones these days. Some also must be fed housed, provided with TV, and given days and evenings off.

But electric appliances are low in operating cost, need a minimum of space, and are on 24-hour duty. An electric refrigerator-freezer, for example, works quietly, efficiently, and inexpensively 24 hours a day, the whole year around.

The nostalgia of the servant era may linger on, but today's housewife gets more work done faster and better with her staff of uncomplaining, compact electric helpers.

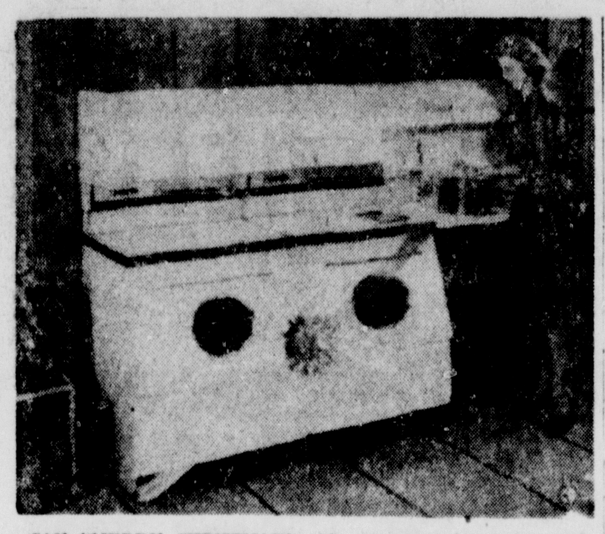
Automatic Appliances Make Every Day Sunny In Laundry



SAY "MERRY CHRISTMAS" with an automatic washer and dryer, and you chase washday blues the year around. Flexible five-cycle controls are featured on both of these laundry twins.

STAINLESS STEEL tub is feature of one brand of washer. Tube at left of tub ejects sand.

Avoid Tile Cracks

Kitchen floor tiles must be placed closely together. Food particles get into cracks, resulting in unpleasant odors and providing breeding places for bacteria.

According to population experts, less than seven per cent of American women never marry.

NO CHECK PAYROLL

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — The Union National Bank of Wichita has picked up a lot of new deposits by persuading 15 companies to adopt its "no check payroll" plan. Instead of a paycheck, each employe gets his full pay deposited in the bank. He is free to transfer it without charge to another bank if he wishes.

Washday Liberated From Weather

That's the safest, surest and most certain weather forecast you can find. Even in the tropics in the rainy season you could safely predict sunny weather in the modern laundry room.

One reason, of course, is that modern appliances like the automatic washer and dryer have liberated washday from the weather outside. Grandmother, of course, just had to wait for a good "drying day." And even then, some of the good drying days were so hot that she could take little enjoyment from the prospect of standing over boiling wash tubs.

Today's housewife, of course, need never move outside of her laundry room and the whole process of modern laundering is so easy and carefree that the lady of the house couldn't care less about what the weather outside is like.

But freedom from worry about the weather is only one reason for the "sunny" disposition of women who have a modern electric laundry in their home. Actually, laundry day is always "fair" for them because all the "clouds" that once hung over washday have been dissipated by today's labor saving appliances, new achievements in soil-resistant and care-free fabrics, and spectacular advances in soaps, detergents, bleaches and starches.

Consider for a moment the changes which electrical appliances have made in washday. Can you remember the hand scrubbing, the boiling of clothes, the transferring of heavy wet laundry from one tub to another? With today's washers the housewife need do nothing but set the controls and turn the machine on. From that point an array of mechanical brains and capable electrical servants take over and do the washing.

And years ago, after the clothes had been washed, they had to be loaded in a basket, the basket carried upstairs and the heavy, cumbersome laundry hung on the line. Then you worried about the weather, smoke, wind-blown dirt —and a dozen other potential catastrophies. In today's laundry the damp-dry clothes are moved from the washer to the neighboring dryer, a switch is turned on and all drying headaches have been taken care of.

Easy as this sounds, it isn't the last word in laundry convenience. If you get a combination washer-dryer, your clothes are washed and dried without any attention from you at all.

Finally, the clothes must be ironed. That once could mean but one thing — exhausting hours standing over an ironing board. But modern ironers have taken the physical work out of ironing while at the same time drastically reducing the time needed for this operation.

Is it so surprising then that women who own modern laundries have a sunny disposition when it comes to washday. For them it's obvious that in their laundries, at least, the sun really does shine 365 days a year.

New Ranges Made For Easy Work

Lampblacking the old coal stove was a cinch compared to trying to clean some of the so-called "modern" ranges that came along in the 'twenties and 'thirties. Cracks and crevices, gratings and grillwork caught and held spillovers, ovens were inaccesible, and the whole stove had to be moved to get at dust underneath.

Electrical appliance manufacturers today have listened to the cries of busy housewives and now make ranges that not only help her cook well and efficiently, but are designed for convenience of cleaning, inside and out.

Among the features that make the new electric ranges easy to clean are hinged lift-up tops, ovens that pull all the way out, removable oven doors, throw-away oven liners, storage drawers that come out for cleaning under the range, recessed cooking tops that prevent spillovers, and removable reflector pans under the elements.
